To me, art is funky and random.

To me, art is spiky.

To me, art is both harsh and delicate.

To me, art is a challenge to carry.

To me, art doesn't like sitting around—even if it's resting on the floor.

To me, art doesn't represent figures or forms from our world.

To me, art twists and turns and makes up its own mind as it goes.

To me, art colors places that are dull.

To me, art makes people happy.

To me, art uses the same amount of energy as a morning run.

To me, art forgets rules.

To me, art is cool for both artists and non-artists.

To me, art is confusing.

To me, art works as a team.

To me, art creates smiles.

To me, art talks—but isn't specific to language.

To me, art recycles junk.

To me, art makes something out of nothing.

To me, art is vibrant and catches the eye.

To me, art doesn't care if it's hated.

To me, art doesn't care if it's loved either.

To me, art has endless interpretations.

To me, art lives.

To me, art is free.

To me, art does whatever the hell it wants to do.
