THE FOOTBALL SEASON

MOST SUCCESSFUL SEASON SINCE
1911

The record of the football team is one of which Haverfordians can feel justly proud. Three victories and one tie, out of seven games, against the type of teams that formed our opponents this year, is a record worthy of the highest praise. Indeed it is better than any Haverford eleven has done since 1908, with the exception of 1911 when F. and M. was beaten. This success may be attributed to a number of causes. First and greatest recognition must be given to Dr. Bennett for his excellent work as coach. Through his efforts a perfect football machine was developed in which every man knew what to do and when to do it.

The proverbial Haverford spirit of gameness* and grit was called upon many a time in the big games, especially with F. and M. and Trinity when the team was playing against great obstacles. It never failed to respond. But the success of the team did not depend entirely upon grit or gameness. There have been just as gritty teams at Haverford in the past. Rather it was grit plus skill, and for the latter the men have to thank the valiant efforts of "Doc" Bennett, who succeeded, as had never been done before, in drilling into the men a system of defense and attack that could meet all emergencies. Some one has termed it "one of the best coached teams in the East." As to the Swarthmore game, the crucial test of the season, Haverford most of the time was the aggressor though facing a team 11 lbs. heavier to the man. The tie score will only urge the men on to greater efforts at the next game.

The outlook for next season is bright, in fact much brighter than was the prospect for the present season. The entire eleven which played against Swarthmore will be eligible next year, and will have the advantage of a year's experience. We look for victories next year, not "moral" victories, but actual wins. The team should win the majority of the games on its schedule, and for the accomplishment of this, Captain-elect Moon has the best wishes of all.

Three Straight Defeats in Soccer

TEAM IS DEFEATED BY CORNELL, COLUMBIA AND HARVARD—"DOC" BENNETT NOW COACHING SOCCER—PENN GAME THIS WEEK—THE LEAGUE STANDING

The past two weeks have shown clearly that this is an off-year for soccer at Haverford. With more material than ever before indications point to a successful season, but the four games played thus far show that while the material is abundant it is far from experienced, and there lies the secret of the three straight defeats. The first blow came on Saturday, 28th, when Cornell defeated a Haverford team for the first time.

Cornell 3; Haverford 0

Early in the first half the strength and aggressiveness of the Cornell team was evident and Russell, their center forward, soon dribbled through our backfield for their first score. Haverford worked hard and largely through the efforts of Steere at center half was able to advance the ball within striking distance, but the forward line was hopelessly weak in its ability to score and several easy shots were missed. Cornell's second tally came towards the close of the half when one of our backs accidentally headed a corner kick through his own goal. During the second half the ball was continually in Haverford's territory our forwards only managing to get two stray shots from way out. Cornell's third score came when the Haverford goalkeeper fell into his own goal with the ball. The line-up:

"Doc" Bennett Becomes Soccer Coach

After Cornell's victory it was evident that some radical change was necessary. The most obvious fault in the team was the lack of spirit, and to remedy this ailment Coach Thomas was dismissed and the services of "Doc" Bennett were obtained. Carey and "Marney" Crossman joined the squad and the two practices under "Mike's" supervision were the most spirited of the season. With the addition of such fresh material as Crossman and Carey in the line and Moon and Gardiner at full back the prospects for the Columbia Game were at least hopeful.

Columbia 4; Haverford 0

The trip to Columbia revealed more than any of the other games the hopeless lack of experience in the Haverford team. The team to a man put up a game fight and played hard but the superior skill of the Columbia players was evident and the work of Shanholt at center forward at times made our backfield look ridiculous. In the first few minutes of play Haverford held the ball in Columbia's territory but Columbia soon got started and after this Haverford had just two chances to score from scrimmages in front of the Columbia goal, which only by the merest luck failed to result in scores for Haverford. In the first half Shanholt found his way through the Haverford backfield and made two tallies. The third score was made by Marquard and the final tally by H. Shanholt who changed from full-back to a forward position in the second half. Several alumni witnessed the game and David Hinshaw, '11, entertained five of the team at supper at the Phi Delta House. The line-up:

Harvard 1; Haverford 0

Haverford won the toss and started with a strong wind at her back. All during the first half the ball was continually in Harvard's territory but in spite of this aid our forward line was unable to make a tally. Harvard made a number of successful rushes against the wind and on one of these obtained the only score of the game when the right halfback took a long drive which struck the goal post and

SPIERS-BEATTY CONCERT MAKES BIG HIT

WELL BALANCED PROGRAM
PLEASES AUDIENCE

Those who came to the concert in the Union under the auspices of the Music Study Club last Wednesday night, were well repaid for their trouble, disagreeable and foggy as was the weather outside. Mr. Beatty opened with two prime favorites, Kuhn's "Invictus" and Homer's "Banjo Song." Perhaps one of the most interesting pieces that Mrs. Spiers played, was Debussy's Arabesque; under her perfect technique it gave one the impression of multi-colored flecks of dancing light. She gave also a very fine interpretation of that beautifully descriptive etude of McDowell's "March Wind." Mr. Spiers brought out the very spirit of stormy, capricious March wind himself; and that spirit McDowell embodied in the piece. Mr. Beatty's fine bass lent itself well to the solemnity and bigness of Handel's "Hear me, Ye Winds and Waves," and that was probably his most popular piece. Both Mrs. Spiers and Mr. Beatty were encored by the fairly large and enthusiastic audience.

The program:

Moon Chosen 1915 Football Captain

In an election held last Tuesday by the varsity football men Edward R. Moon, '16, was chosen to captain next year's eleven. Moon has been on the varsity squad all three years of his college career and his election was as popular with the student body as with the football men. The full limit of twelve letters was also awarded, including Farr, who was kept out of the three final games by an operation, and the

The Soccer Situation

The present soccer situation presents three contradictory aspects by being discouraging, ridiculous and encouraging at the same time. We can not deny that the showing of our varsity in the Intercollegiate League is most discouraging. And when we act as a prime mover in the introduction of the game in the Philadelphia schools the situation might readily be regarded as ridiculous. But when we stop to consider the interest which has been shown in the sport this fall we may rightly feel encouraged and confident for the future. Numerous reasons for our sad season are being discussed about college; football has hurt soccer; poor coaching and poor spirit; the team has been overtrained and gone stale, and even the extreme view that Haverford is being outclassed by the other colleges. The latter point is maintained by the fact that since winning the Intercollegiate Championship, Haverford has each year settled into a lower position in the final standing of the League. If the above causes had any effect in producing the present depression, it was very slight; the real reason lies deeper and was inevitable. For the past four or five years practically all the interest and training in soccer has been concentrated on the development of eleven men, and when five star players were lost by graduation last spring and the three best halfbacks in college were unavailable on account of injuries, to put it in plain speech we were "up against it." There was not sufficient experienced material in college to equalize the loss. Seniors are playing the game this season for the first time and are making good, but how much more experienced they would be if they had been given the proper chance to come out and learn the game in their Freshman year. Haverford must take up seriously the task of training her soccer material if she hopes to maintain her position in the sport. This year the material and interest in the game is abundant, especially among the Freshmen, and it is our duty to secure a successful coach who not only knows the game but also college men and how to train them. If this is done and each year sufficient encouragement is given new men to take up the sport, Haverford will again have championship teams.

Better Attendance Needed

We have a first-class glee club this year, and the proper complement to it should be a first-class mandolin club. As yet the mandolin club has not rounded into desirable form. They have plenty of material, but progress is not fast enough. Let us take a look at the attendance record. There have been nine meetings, averaging sixteen present out of a possible twenty-three—i.e. a three quarter's average attendance, and at no time has every member been present. Yet nothing requires more team work than a musical club. This fact of desultory attendance, along with lack of sufficient outside practice, has certainly cut down the club's efficiency. In addition, such long rehearsals would not be required, if members practiced enough outside.

A Time Saver

Many a student has wandered through the wilds of a library seeking information on one subject or another—how many children had Napoleon—or how far is Metz from Madagascar,—or why does gasoline explode—and, having tracked the particle of information to its lair, spends in reading it about one-tenth the time required to find it in the first place.

Many of us fail to realize that in an encyclopedia we can find the same material in a few seconds, concisely put and alphabetically arranged. We continually seek out our information from scientific treatises and ten-volume histories. This method may give us an acquaintance with books, but it undoubtedly takes an immense amount of time in proportion to the knowledge acquired.

To remember that the encyclopedia holds a vast store of information purposely arranged for quick consultation, will often save for better uses time fruitlessly spent in search through many volumes.

Calendar

Austria and the War

Austria-Hungary with over twelve nationalities within its border, the largest unit of them being twelve million Germans, has had one great element to hold together its unwieldy heterogeneous empire of two hundred and sixty-five thousand square miles. And that element, said Mr. John Kapecs, a Hungarian, and member of the Philadelphia S. P. C. C., has been the House of Hapsburg. The Hapsburgs have used the army, the police, and the church to instill loyalty into their people, and when those three means have failed, they get the public interested in a foreign war. And that is just what happened last August, when, to quiet internal dissension, to get some compensation for keeping her army on a war footing during the last Balkan War, and to crush a dangerous neighbor, the Hapsburg Dynasty declared war on Servia.

Dr. Barrett Returns from Europe

Dr. D. C. Barrett, Professor of Economics, who has been away from the College on a half-year leave of absence, returned to this country recently. He and Mrs. Barrett were in England from June until November. After a tour of several weeks devoted to sight-seeing, and to visits to various industrial centers and model villages for workmen, they settled in London. There Dr. Barrett, through conferences with a number of business and professional men, and through facilities offered in the British Museum, investigated certain financial relations between England and America during the years 1860-1880. A visit to France for similar purposes was rendered impossible on account of the war. Consequently he has returned to New York and is pursuing his work in the libraries there. In February he will lecture before the faculty and graduate students of the Economics Department of Princeton University on the results of his investigations.

Preston News

The annual Preston Social was held last Friday evening, at which there was a turnout of eighty-five. Entertainment was provided by L. P. Crossman, '15, E. L. Brown, '17, and Arnold and Kendall, '18. The social was in charge of H. Howson, '15. Unfortunately half of the ice-cream was misdelivered, and resided undisturbed outside of Founder's Hall until Saturday noon. Professor Wilson spoke at the meeting last Sunday and for the coming Sunday Dr. S. B. Knowlton of Haverford School will be the speaker.

Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Rufus Jones was the speaker at the Y. M. C. A. meeting last Wednesday evening. He spoke of certain "wildernesses" in men's lives, which must be overcome before a complete conquest of the body or the self can be made. He emphasized the importance of acquiring valuable habits in laying down the lines of a moral career. Absolute honesty and trustworthiness were commended as important assets for any young man. Finally Dr. Jones urged that the enthusiasm manifested on the football field be equaled by the enthusiasm shown for religious matters.

The Fresh-Soph Games

The Sophomore and Freshman classes have decided to hold no interclass football game this year. In this there is no desire to abolish the custom which both classes fully believe in and pledge their efforts toward continuing. However, peculiar circumstances this fall seem to make the contest undesirable. Even to think about a class game during the few weeks before the Swarthmore contest would have been out of the question, when all energies were being concentrated toward the one great end. After the "Big Game" the football enthusiasm that had been worked up to a high pitch suddenly fell, and a class game would have been an anticlimax. But the chief reason for the calling-off is this: that between the Swarthmore game and Thanksgiving were just three college days and even if it were possible to get a team together and signals made up within so short a time, the varsity men in both classes who had put their every ounce of energy and fight into the game a few days before would have been in no condition to throw themselves into a second contest so soon.

After Thanksgiving, the men were out of training, gymnasium classes has started, soccer practice was going full blast preparatory to the intercollegiate games, and football was forgotten. A class-game at this time would have been a farce.

Had these conditions been foreseen, as they unfortunately were not, the game would have been played sometime during October, and this is what must be done next year. It is not unlikely that 1917 and 1918 will hold the postponed game at this time. The custom must be kept up, even though conditions seemed to forbid a contest this year.

Dr. Kelsey last Saturday attended the sessions of the American Teachers' Association of the Middle States and Maryland.

The defensive work of our backs and the excellent goal keeping of Shipley prevented any further scoring by Harvard although they had the wind at their backs and numerous shots resulted. The forward line made numerous attacks against the wind but were never close enough to make a tally certain.

Wadsworth, '11, Crowder, Hall, Van Sickle and Gifford, '13, were present at the game and entertained some of the team Saturday evening. Lineup:

Penn Game this Week

Haverford's chances of a victory against Penn on Saturday seem very slight indeed considering the fact that by defeating Princeton on Saturday they completed their season without a defeat and won the Intercollegiate Championship. But our team is slowly improving, and with four afternoons of practice this week it is not at all improbable that "Mike" will be able to turn out a winning combination. In the series with Penn Haverford has scored four victories, Penn two and two games have resulted in a tie.

The Intercollegiate Standing

Penn's victory over Princeton on Saturday and Yale's defeat of Columbia made Penn the undisputed champion of the Intercollegiate League.

Third Team Breaks Losing Streak and Wins 1-0

The third soccer team broke their string of scoreless defeats on Saturday afternoon when they won from the Kensington Boys' Club eleven by a score of 1 to 0 on '88 Field. The team played hard in the first half, and after taking the lead on a goal by Webb they held their opponents safe by a strong defense. The game was closely contested, and Wendell, Thorpe, and Bell played for the college in their respective positions. The line-up:

Second Team Defeats Merion 2-1

The second soccer team won another league match on '88 Field Thanksgiving morning when they defeated the Merion C. C. second eleven by a score of 2 to 1. Our men were hammering at Merion's goal the greater part of the game but were slow to make use of their many opportunities to score. Gardiner played his usual strong game at fullback while a fast attack centered around the fine dribbling and passing of Nitobe and Lukens on the forward line. Line-up:

Second Team Wins Again 1-0

The second soccer team won another league match Saturday afternoon when they defeated Moorestown 2d by a score of 1 to 0 at Moorestown. Although a terrific wind handicapped the team in the first half Taber scored the only goal of the match on a hard center by Le Clercq. The team also forced the play during the remainder of the game and worked the wings to good advantage in advancing the ball. Tatum at outside right and "Woody" Crosman at center halfback played their usual consistent game. Line-up:
