SOCCER TEAM DEFEATS MERION MAROONS, 5-1

MERION TEAM OUTCLASSED. HAVERFORD FORWARDS PASS WELL.

The Varsity soccer team celebrated the legal holiday last Tuesday afternoon in true Roman style when they invaded the Merion Cricket Club and returned with a 5-1 victory over the Merion Maroons. A rather high wind sweeping across the field bothered the players quite a little, though it assisted materially in scoring one of the goals. The Haverford team play was very snappy in the first half, but in the second, with a nice lead to rely on, the team lagged a little. Merion was not at its full strength, lacking the services of four regulars.

The scuffle started with the wind at Haverford's back. The best possible advantage was taken of this, for three goals were scored in the opening period. After scrimmaging around for a while the team found itself and the scoring started. After a long pass from Gardiner, Buzby dribbled almost to the goal line along the outside, from which position he centered. It was more than a center, however, for the ball curved in to the goal, passed just over Felton's hands and landed in the net. Soon after this Weller slipped out of the scrimmage and after a short run, shot for the second score. Stokes, who had been playing exceptionally well up to this point, decided to break into the ranks of the scorers, so near the close of the half, cut loose with a swift shot from the outside which passed between the goal-keeper's leg and the goal-post. Outside of the flashes which resulted in scores, the play in the first half was rather slow and inaccurate.

In the second half Merion, with the wind at their backs, got busy, while the tendency for Haverford was to loaf. This resulted in making the play more even, as shown by the fact that Haverford scored twice and Merion once. Soon after the start of the period Weller registered his second score. On a pass from Stokes he tapped the ball into the corner. Sharpless, who played a good game at center-half for Merion, eliminated the whitewash from his team's score column by a pretty goal. The ball had rolled back from scrimmage when Sharpless curved it in the corner, just out of reach of Green's hands. In the last few minutes of play Crosman came off victorious from one of his many scuffles with Felton, playing fullback, and scored, bringing the total up to five.

Although Haverford played well, the work was not up to Intercollegiate standard. Cary and Buzby got in some nice passing in the second period and Thomas played an aggressive game at center-half. For Merion, Miffin fought hard throughout. Line-up:

Haverford Loses to Franklin and Marshall, 13-0

HOME ELEVEN SCORES TWO TOUCHDOWNS ON FORWARD PASS AND BLOCKED KICK

Last Saturday practically the entire college body journeyed on a special train to Lancaster, where they nobly supported the football team, who put up a most gallant battle before admitting their defeat at the hands of Franklin and Marshall College by a score of 13 to 0. Even returning home after the defeat, the college body declared the trip a most satisfactory one for many reasons. The afternoon furnished ideal football weather for the game, and with both of the soccer games postponed and other hindrances removed, the cheer-leaders and football management were able to get a larger body of students in the cheering section of the grandstand on Williamson Field at Lancaster than was probably present in the cheering section at any of the home games this fall. We did our vocal work well and put so much enthusiasm into it that we certainly excelled the home contingent in volume and left a most favorable impression with them of the strength of Haverford spirit.

Any time after the classes of the second hour Saturday morning had been dismissed "Rhinies" were to be seen straggling down the walk to the station with suit-cases of the players, and promptly at 11.05 A. M. Manager Love corralled his company into a special train of two cars—the front one of which contained the team and the back one of which was reserved as the smoker. Except for a few unfortunate, the journey to the "Home of Bull Durham" was uneventful and once there "Doc" Bennett quickly sidetracked his select little party to the Hotel Stevens, while the less favored sought for sustenance at the Hotel Brunswick, the Crystal Cafe and places of even better or worse repute. Quite a number of the students arrived at Williamson Field early enough to see the Franklin and Marshall Academy walk all over their rivals, Gettysburg Academy, in a contest which seemed to serve both as a preliminary round for the afternoon's double-header and as a means by which future foes of Haverford College might receive a thorough training in the gridiron game.

Our match with Franklin and Marshall College, which was, of course, the grand fracas to wind up the double bill, started off most auspiciously for us and gave us the best chance we had during the day to score. Within the first five minutes we had gotten the jump on them and rushed the ball to their 9-yard-mark, largely due to several fine runs by Van Dam, who gained more distance during the afternoon by his irresistible dashes than any other man on the squad. With the ball thus truly in the shadow of their opponents' uprights and with about two yards to go on a fourth down, Carey decided to call for a short onside kick, which had both succeeded and failed previously this season, but fortunately it was caught by Kessler, who in a second had run it out of danger. Other chances to score, though they were not as favorable as the first, came in the second half, but several of these were cruelly nipped in the bud when Herman intercepted forward passes despatched by our backs. Our most successful pass of the afternoon was a long one from Crosman to Sangree from kick formation, which was not made when we were threatening their goal, but, on the contrary, when Crosman was standing behind his own goal line and when everybody was expecting a long punt.

Franklin and Marshall also "pulled" but one successful long pass in the game, but this, by the irony of fate, gave them their first touchdown, as Berger caught Herman's thirty-yard heave over the center of the line and then eluded our backs in a quick dash to our goal. Herman kicked the goal, making the score 7-0. Thus it stayed until the final period, when six more points were added as a result of Berger's blocking one of Crosman's punts. The ball rolled towards our goal and though Smith was the first to pick it up, he dropped it when tackled, after which Feidt proved to be the man to recover it. With but a few yards now to go, Herman "put it over," but failed to kick the goal from a considerable angle, leaving the score 13 to 0. The playing of Herman and Berger was a decided feature for Franklin and Marshall, but it was Captain Mylin whose name was on everybody's lips before and after the game. Our men had plans well-laid for this slippery flash of lightning and four-fifths of the time Saturday they downed him without a gain, but on the remaining fifth of the times he ran with the ball he would break through a half a dozen would-be tacklers in form which was a treat indeed to all septators.

For us the most pleasing feature in the game was the way our line would break

DR. TWEEDY REVISITS HAVERFORD

YALE PROFESSOR ATTRACTS LARGE AUDIENCE TO Y. M. C. A.

"The Life that is Life" was the subject of Dr. H. H. Tweedy's second annual address to the Haverford Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday evening. The Union, where the meeting was held, was comfortably filled, and all present were impressed with the force and the sincerity of the speaker's words.

The talk, which was condensed into the scope of half an hour, was founded upon that verse in Job 2: 4—"Skin for skin, yea, all that a man hath will he give for his life." Dr. Tweedy's efforts were directed at showing the nature of this life, "that," as he expressed it, "is so glorious and worth while." The ideal life is not a fight for mere existence, but it is much more—a fight for something broader and more spiritual, namely, the life seen in Christ. "This," said the speaker, "is not a mystical abstraction, a theological dream, but rather a fuller and more abundant existence such as Christ expressed in describing his mission in life, 'I am come that you may have life, and may have it more abundantly.'"

"Wealth and power alone will not make happiness," said Dr. Tweedy, and the "life that is life indeed" does not necessarily include riches. But the Christ-like life insures good health, a happy life and a life of usefulness to all mankind.

In closing, Dr. Tweedy pleaded for his audience to give this life and its Founder a fair trial, for "as you have it or lose it, you will be happy or miserable." He expressed his confidence that college men will fight the wrong in the world, but hoped that more of them would fight directly for Christ.

In addition to his Y. M. C. A. talk, Dr. Tweedy spoke at the Meeting House Thursday morning on "Life's Challenge to Young Men," and also at many informal conferences with the students, both individually and in groups.

J. J. GUENTHER, '11, AND OTHER HAVERFORDIANS PROMINENT IN TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT

J. J. Guenther, Haverford, '11, is working as Associate Secretary of the National Temperance Union, under the auspices of the Federal Council of the Churches in America, with headquarters at the Stock Exchange Building in Philadelphia. Among the Advisory Committee, appointed October 1st, are President Sharpless, Dr. Winfield Scott Hall, formerly of Haverford College, and now of N. W. University, Reverend Charles Wood, '70, and Charles L. Huston, '75, of the Lukens Iron and Steel Company, Coatesville, who has for many years been a worker in the cause of abstinence and moral option.

SPEAKERS FOR HOPKINS MEETING

Cheer-leader Ellison has arranged for a football meeting Friday evening that will be somewhat out of the usual as football meetings go, being preparatory to the game with Charley Brickley's team from Johns Hopkins. The following speakers are on the program: C. Mitchell Froelicher, '10; Henry S. Drinker, Jr., '00; Charles J. Moon, '12; Winthrop Sargent, Jr., '08.

RESIGNATION FROM THE "NEWS" BOARD

John Gray Love, Jr., has resigned recently as assistant business manager of the HAVERFORD NEWS on account of the press of his duties as football manager.

THINKING VICTORY

This week the College body will possess the state of mind of a man reading an exciting book, on the next to last chapter—when he knows the whole climax is just a few pages on in that last chapter, and he is aching to turn to the grand denouement and fulfil his hopes; just to see the man he's backing put it all over the other fellow—and in other words, to read the ending that he wants. Well, the football team is the author of this book and Dr. Bennett is the author's brain. That author with that brain is going to end that book the way; we, the readers want them to end it. If we think victory over Swarthmore and nothing but victory, the team will end the story that way. Think victory with the mental tenacity of a bulldog. One thought, one team, one coach, one game, and—Victory!

A WORD IN GRATITUDE

One thing that a squad appreciates in these strenuous days toward the end of the football season is the presence of some of the former players who come back, don suits and charge through mud and dust, putting "pep" into the scrubs and 'varsity. Nearly every afternoon within the last week or so has seen one or more alumni in football togs pushing the team along. To those who have seized the time from other affairs to come back and help in this way is due a whole-hearted "Thank you."

CLASS SEES PUBLISHING HOUSES

The Economics 1 class with Dr. Barrett made some practical observations in the journalistic industry Wednesday afternoon, when a trip was taken to the Curtis Publishing Company plant on Independence Square. The party was conducted over the big new building and saw the offices, the composing rooms with the monotype machines, the presses turning out the finished magazines, and the mailing department, where millions of papers are packed for shipping.

From here they went to the Evening Bulletin office, where the sixteen double-deck presses were running off the night extra edition. The composing room with over thirty linotype machines likewise proved of interest.

The trip also included a half hour in the Filbert telephone exchange.

STUDENTS VISIT BLOCKLEY

Blockley Hospital, in Philadelphia, was the goal of a pilgrimage made by Dr. Babbitt's class in Biology 9a on Wednesday day afternoon, when a party of half a dozen inspected the wards and laboratory there. The main object of the visit was to witness the Wasserman test which was being made, involving hundreds of tubes of the suspected bacteria.

A rather gruesome spectacle was the large icebox in which corpses of recently deceased patients are stored. While the class was there, three bodies were brought in wrapped in wet sheets with numbers attached, and placed on ice; 27,000 patients a year, it was explained take up temporary lodging in these quarters before burial or removal to the morgue.

Another scene, hardly more cheerful, was the collection of abnormalities, containing pickled freaks of many varieties.

Those who went were: Stokes, Kuhns, Bray, Oberholzer, Schenk and Dr. Babbitt.

MANDOLIN CLUB NEWS

The Mandolin Club had their first try-outs last week, and nineteen new men were out. Mr. Eugene Engell, the new coach for the Glee and Mandolin Clubs, will be out next Tuesday for a conference with E. Brown and Baird, the two leaders. Mr. Engell is an instructor at the Leefton-Hille Conservatory of Philadelphia and plays the violin and cornet. He has also led at times the orchestra on the Steel Pier at Atlantic City. Some of the new pieces for the Mandolin Club this year are: Sousa's march "Stars and Stripes Forever" and Drigo's Serenade from "Les Millions d'Arlequin." The following are the new candidates: Thiers, '16; McConnell, '19; F. Strawbridge, '19; F. Cary, '16; F. Buftum, '16; Leidy, '16; Brodhead, '17; Spellissy, '17; C. Van Dam, '17; Hynson, '17; M. Shipley, '18; C. F. Long, '18; K. Webb, '18; Stief, '18; E. Thorpe, '18; Simpson, '19; R. Moore, '18; J. Haines, '19.

The Haverfordian for November came out last Saturday. There will be another review of this month's number by Dr. Snyder, next week in the News.

JUNIOR WOGGLEBUGGERS DOWN SOPHOMORES

Last Friday on Walton Field was staged the first Wogglebug football game of the season, when 1917 defeated 1918 by the score of 7-0. The day was crisp and snappy and well calculated to bring out the latent energies of the motley warriors. Despite the frigidty of the weather, plays were run off to the accompaniment of "iced tea," "peaches and cream," "ham and eggs," etc.

Play in the first half was about even, and neither side was able to score, but in the second half the Junior team began to forge to the front. Weston, the husky fullback on "Bib. Lit.," "Greek I," and "Social Work" formations, found big holes in the opposing line. The secondary defense of the Sophs responded nobly, but finally the aforesaid "husky" and mainstay of the Juniors romped across the line for the only touchdown of the game, while his loyal classmates on the sidelines encouraged him with loud shouts of "Yo Eddy!" Jones very promptly and cleverly kicked the goal, and soon afterwards the game ended.

The work of the two teams as a whole was far ahead of the style of play usually exhibited in Wogglebug games. This was due no doubt to the fact that most of the men have been out regularly for practice on the "scum" or "slime." Captain Nevin played a very aggressive game for 1918, both on offense and defense. The line-up:

JUNIORS		SOPHS

Last Sunday four members of the Haverford Y. M. C. A.—Stokes, Allen, Sharpless and Mengert—were the guests of the Swarthmore College Y. M. C. A. Each gave a short talk at the evening service.

On Sunday evening the Y. M. C. A. service was led by Edward F. Lukens, Jr., '16. He spoke on "American Immigration." There was a good attendance and a spirited meeting.

RICE WRITES OF FRIENDS' WORK IN WAR ZONE

WILL COME HOME IN EFFORT TO INCREASE F. A. U. FORCE

FRIENDS AMBULANCE UNIT,
HEADQUARTER, FRANCE,
October 13, 1915.

DEAR DR. JONES:—

The work which the F. A. U. is doing here is simply magnificent, about the finest Red Cross work which could be done, and I believe, although I know little about it, that it is as fine as has ever been done in the past by Friends in times of war. For a long time it has been growing in my thoughts—this great appreciation of an entirely voluntary organization which is helping to clear up the horror and wreckage of war; which cares for the wounded almost where they fall, without a thought of danger; which carries them to safety and home by train and motor; which, best of all, picks out the waste spots and places forgotten by others near the battle line and there fights against disease and starvation among those too weak to be under arms; which builds huts to shelter the homeless, gives employment and food to the starving, pure milk to the dying babies, and alone has stamped out whole epidemics of typhoid. I can't tell you adequately yet how great and good all this work is which only a few hundred Friends, mostly quite young, are doing. . . .

All this growing enthusiasm of mine for the work has brought me great hopes of being able to help more. A few chance words of Arnold Rowntree's several weeks ago on the train set the wheels buzzing in my head. I asked to be sent up here for a while and then shifted all over the Unit's work. Last Thursday, Maxwell, the F. A. U. O. C., took me off the train and brought me up here in his car. It was a long journey, and as we flew along the flat roads of Flanders I told him what I wanted to try and do. It seems he and some of the London committees had been thinking somewhat of the same things. I asked to be taken all over the work of the Unit, working for a week or two in each place. I asked to be allowed to see everything, to question anybody, and so to learn by seeing it all, and believing, that I could come home for a few weeks and tell the Friends of America with a sure power and conviction what a great work the Friends of England are doing and how greatly they need help. It is costing many thousands of dollars a week and the men are very scarce, while the demands are greater every week. As an example, they have just been asked to take over another ambulance train by the British Army Medical Service, the best organized and most exacting in the war, which will mean forty new men. Again, if the battle front shifts either way here in France, it will mean a sore call on the relief work of the Friends.

All this, besides a normal increase with things in their present status. I fully realize what you and others have done over there in the way of help, but I also know that you are all busy men with many other calls, and so I have dared to ask that I might try to devote all my time for a few weeks and good first-hand knowledge to telling as many of the American Friends as I can get in touch with, how greatly they may help. I hope by doing so I will not be interfering or imposing on anyone. . . . Of course there is nothing definite yet, except that I have begun to shift about with two weeks' work as orderly at the Hospital Alexandra. Maxwell goes over to London to an F. A. U. Committee meeting on the 24th, I think and I suppose they will decide then whether to send me over. I have suggested to Maxwell that I get to Philadelphia by the Saturday of the Swarthmore game, hoping that at that time I might in some way get in touch with a good many Friends. Might I suggest to you some sort of gathering, (perhaps a supper on Friday evening,) of influential Friends, where, either incidentally or principally, you would let me tell them of the work of the F. A. U. and War Victims' Relief. I have lived in Swarthmore several years and know the College and its interests quite well; it seems as though all Quakers might well be told of the work, and perhaps at the proposed gathering you might have Friends from Swarthmore as well as Haverford.

I earnestly hope you will approve of what I have done, or rather started out to do. If I don't get there by the Swarthmore game, it will be soon after. I shall write immediately when I know of any final plans. Morley, Fowler and Carey are still on the train, though they may get up here later. We are all greatly pleased with the train work, which is some of the best the Unit does. . . .

Sincerely your friend,
EDWARD RICE, JR., '14.

CIVIC CLUB NEWS

On Thursday evening, Mr. Crist of the Ardmore Y. M. A. C. gave an hour's lesson in teaching Italians, to the eleven men who are doing outside work for the Civic Club this year. There are three classes this year—one at Ardmore, one at Narberth, and one at Bryn Mawr, with a total of about twenty-five men enrolled.

DR. SCHMUCKER TO SPEAK

Dr. Samuel C. Schmucker, of West Chester State Normal School, who is well known for his widespread success in making biology and nature study popular, is to address the Scientific Society Tuesday evening. His subject will be "A Family of Spinners." Dr. Schmucker has a reputation as the author of the most interesting book on evolution ever written.

The meeting will be held at 6.30 instead of 7.30, the usual hour.

[SUFFRAGE STRAW VOTE TAKEN

Last Tuesday at lunch, a straw vote on the question of woman suffrage was taken. The results showed a slight majority in favor of the "Suffs." The total was 85 for, and 71 against.

THIRD SOCCER TEAM IN SCORELESS TIE

The third soccer team played a scoreless tie with the eleven from the Haverford School last Wednesday afternoon on '88 Field in a game in which the only thing which played true to form was a stiff north wind. This viciously brought the ball back into the face of any player who had just kicked it. The third team kept their goal unsullied the first half, but were unable to score themselves in the second period when they had the wind sweeping behind them, although they had many opportunities. Line-up:

SECOND SOCCER GAME CALLED OFF

At ten-thirty last Saturday morning an eleven-hour notice reached Manager Maxwell from the Germantown C. C. stating that it would be impossible to play the scheduled Second Division Cricket Club League game. The reason given was that the Cricket Club was able to corral only four of its second team players, hardly enough to make the game interesting. The game will probably be a forfeit to Haverford. The second team is now leading the league, having won four times, twice by playing and twice by forfeit, and the other game resulting in a tie with Penn 2d.

FIRE IN ANNEX PROMPTLY QUENCHED

Perhaps it seemed as though the fires of justice were wreaking vengeance upon the "Merion Y. M. C. A." but as a matter of fact the fire in the Annex Tuesday had a less mystical origin. It was this way. A squad of painters were preparing to expend their artistic efforts toward making Merion a joy forever like other things of beauty, and were removing the outworn adornment from the clapboards of the Annex by means of a gasoline torch, when the flame came under the evil influence of a draught passing through a crack in the said boards, and, presto! Merion Annex was on fire. That the conflagration failed to approach the proportions of the famous one in the engineering building was due to the prompt efforts of the familiar "William," protecting saint of the cottage, who came to the rescue with a fire extinguisher. The hole burnt out has already been repaired, and a coat of paint will make it look perfectly innocent.

H. C. A. A. AMENDMENTS PASSED

The following amendments were passed by the College body last week, and are herein printed as posted on the Bulletin Board, with a list of newly-appointed committees appended:

At the close of the meeting of the Joint Alumni and Student Athletic Committee on Tuesday, October 12th, the chairman, J. W. Sharp, '88, appointed a committee of three to make certain sections of the constitution more clearly defined. The following changes were suggested (see the Athletic and Campus Number of the "Haverford College Bulletin," pages 19 ff.) and reported to the chairman, and are hereby announced as approved:

1. At bottom of p. 19 add "The President and the Secretary of the undergraduate H. C. A. A. shall also be Members of this Joint Committee."

2. (This to be substituted for Article 5, Section 1.) "There shall be three meetings of the Joint Athletic Committee, during the three weeks of October, February, and May."

"At some time previous to each of these meetings the undergraduates shall call a meeting of their own body. The Joint Committee shall have the final decision in all matters of importance which have reference to Haverford athletics."

3. After the words "Nominating Committee," Article 10, page 20, insert "including the president of the H. C. A. A." (Signed) JOSEPH W. SHARP, '88.

NEW SONG FOR SWARTHMORE GAME

Yo! Yo! Song

(Words and Music by Elliot Field, '97)

When we play for Haverford—"Yo! Yo!"
When we play for Haverford, Yo.
With a "Yo! Yo! Yo!"
Tow'rd the goal we go
To score for old Haverford.
With a "Yo! Yo! Yo! Yo! Yo-o!"

CHORUS

"Yo! Yo! Yo!" Down the field we go,
Swarthmore cannot stand before us.
"Yo! Yo! Yo!" Tackle hard and low!
Every fellow shout the chorus.
"Play, boys, play." We will win today,
Scarlet and the Black floats o'er us.
Hustle, fellows, hustle;
Put your muscle in the tussle
When you play for Haverford—"Yo! Yo!"
When you play for Haverford.

When you play with Haverford, Swarthmore
Then your epitaph we'll write:—
"Here lies a team
That had a dream
They'd beat Haverford. Good night!"
With a "Yo! Yo! Yo! Yo! Yo-o!"

"Yo! Yo! Yo!" Down the field we go,
Swarthmore cannot stand before us.
"Yo! Yo! Yo!" Tackle hard and low!
Every fellow shout the chorus.
"Play, boys, play!" We will win today,
Scarlet and the Black floats o'er us.
Hustle, Swarthmore, hustle,
For you're in for quite a tussle
When you play with Haverford, Swarthmore!
When you play with Haverford.

through and tackle the man with the ball even before the play had crossed the line of scrimmage, while the weakness most apparent to a spectator was the lack of good interference for Crosman and occasionally for Carey on the runs which these two men attempted. Score and line-up:

THE MUTUAL BENEFIT is one of the very oldest of American Life Insurance Companies. It has a record for economic management, fair dealing and liberal treatment of policyholders unexcelled in life insurance history. It has no stockholders. All profits are divided equitably among its policyholders. It is the oldest annual dividend Company. It offers the best that there is to be had in life insurance and it issues plain liberal policies. It has never sold tontine or deferred dividend contracts, nor has it ever adopted misleading frills or deceptive devices in order to induce prospects to buy insurance.
