

HAVERFORD FIVE LOSES TO TWO STRONG RIVALS

F. and M. Wins, 38-26, in Hard Game; Good Showing Made Against Rutgers

SHOOTING IS BETTER After holding the last F. and M. basketball teams to an 18-15 tie for the first time, the Scarlet and Black were finally overcome 38-26, at Lancaster, the second annual meet, February 15. A great improvement in teamwork and in accuracy of shooting was largely responsible for the Haverford squad's showing over the Lancaster team.

Throughout the entire first period the two teams were never separated by more than five points. Haverford got off to an early lead, but F. and M. soon equalized and then overcame this initial spur by a single basket. With time was never headed again, but accurate foul shooting and field goals by Arnold and G. Garret kept the lead in a basket.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION PRIZES

Interest in public speaking and debating was greatly increased in 1875 by the offer, by the Alumni Association, of a prize of fifty dollars to the best speaker in an oratorical contest to be held yearly. The first contest was held in 1874, and has taken place annually ever since.

THE FIRST DOUBLE-HEADED DEBATE

This debate was held annually for several years until 1906, when a satisfactory to both societies could not be arranged. Out of these first seven debates, Haverford won five. In 1922, increased interest in debating led to a resumption of relations with the Philamathen Society.

Sir R. A. Falconer to Give Commencement Address

Sir Robert Alexander Falconer, President of Toronto University since 1907, has been secured to deliver the annual Commencement Address on June 13. Sir Robert has received the degree of Doctor of Civil Law from Oxford and a number of other distinguished degrees from various universities in England, Scotland, Ireland, United States, and Canada.

DEBATERS WIN OVER U. OF P. IN DUAL DEBATE

Haverford Teams Win From Both Philamathen Representatives

ARTICLE TEN DISCUSSED

The first intercollegiate debate of the year for Haverford resulted in a completed triumph for the Scarlet and Black debaters when the Philamathen Society of the University of Pennsylvania was defeated at both ends of a dual debate last Friday evening, February 15. The subject, which was simultaneously debated by opposing teams at Haverford and at the University, was "Resolved, that the members of this house should use their influence to have the United States enter the League of Nations without modification of Article X."

Negative Team Also Wins

The debate at Haverford was held in the Union, where Blair, '24, Mead, '26, and Marshall, '26, with Roedelheim as alternate, upheld the affirmative side for Haverford while Cowan, Bussey and Kennedy spoke in the negative for the Philamathen Society. Here the main discussion centered about the questions as to whether public opinion alone is a sufficiently strong weapon for the League, and whether the League would sacrifice its sovereignty by entrance into it, and whether the main advantages of the League make up for its defects.

Junior Class Entertained at Faculty Reception

At a reception held in the Union on Wednesday evening, February 13, the Junior Class was entertained by the Women's Faculty Club. This was the third in a series of receptions given by the organization, the Sophomores and Freshman Classes having been previously entertained. The first floors were beautifully decorated with Valentines, and delicious refreshments were served.

No Hazing at All?

If the few flaws of the present Haverford hazing system are to be done away with, the movement for their abolition should begin at once. To delay action until Spring endangers the whole project for then the attractive possibilities of retention upon next year's new men present themselves to the extent to which students have been entrusted in the past.

Before defining means whereby hazing or regulating Freshmen might be carried out, it is well to bear in mind that any system which may be inaugurated must not give absolute freedom to the future Rhine to do exactly as he pleases. It must not mean that new men will be released from all Rhine rules; it must not mean that the assistant managers must look elsewhere for help; it must not mean that all joy will be banished from the campus or that upper classmen will be left to the basement fraternal and pray for the welfare of the fledglings.

Any committee which may be established for the regulation of Rhines, must be absolutely responsible for its acts. It must be level headed and representative. It must direct and help the newcomers for their own welfare. A committee, composed equally of representatives of the three upper classes, appointed by the Student Council, might be the main feature of a system to secure a proper balance between the objectionable features of hazing and its total abolition.

Advocates of total abolition of hazing at Haverford fail to realize that if their policies were carried out the College would be a lodestone for the weaklings afraid to face the gaff of even a well-regulated hazing system. Some sensible plan, such as that suggested, which embodies neither total abolition nor the retention of irresponsible hazing must be secured.

Danger Ahead!

From the time of the founding of Haverford until the early years of this century, debating was considered to be one of the most important activities of College life. The number and variety of the societies during the time which made debating the primary interest is sufficient proof of the high position which it was accorded by the students.

But in the years which followed, interest in debating waned, until the formerly important activity was scarcely recognized except in the weak or so called "predecessor" of the present. Indeed, as a matter of fact, although a hastily picked team met and defeated the Pennsylvania Philomathean Society last year, hardly an undergraduate in College as much as knew that a debate was being held until the result was announced the next day.

During the past year, however, there have been signs of a possible revival. With the interest in class debating societies, the formation of a debating council, the plans for a preparatory debating league, and finally the recent success of the varsity team, the sport of debating has shown signs of coming back to its own.

Like any other college activity, however, debating demands financial on the efforts of a few experts who may chance to be in College, plus the half-hearted assistance of a few interested but mediocre candidates. Nor can it flourish without the active assistance of the Faculty and the active support of the undergraduates.

A suspicion though, that recent debaters may have tended to regard opponents must be on constant guard lest the same fate that prevails over most other undergraduate activities overtake debating. Active assistance of the Faculty, active work on the part of the debaters, active support of those who must some day compose the varsity team, active support of the undergraduates—all are necessary if debating is not to sink into a slump of passive acceptance of the familiar string of "honorable defeats."

Black and White

Two sharp and distinct schools of thought exist side by side today among Haverfordians, past and present, and to purpose for which Haverford exists and carries on its work as a small college.

The exponents of one of these schools maintain that Haverford's mission is to accept the intellectually capable type of scholar and to develop this type for four years of undergraduate life. Regardless of physical development, regardless of force and possibilities of manhood and character, the intellectual candidate, if he be morally acceptable, is to be welcomed—and "developed."

The other school bases its beliefs on a fundamentally different position. To this group, Haverford exists, not to develop the under-developed, but to bring to an even higher plane those whose intellect has already reached a fair stage of development, whose body is capable of winning honors in the all-around struggle of undergraduate life (and in after life as well), and whose character is such as would favor recognition in even the larger type of university.

To those who believe that Haverford should make the good better rather than develop the under-developed, it seems plainly apparent that year after year Haverford's Faculty, Alumni, endowment and equipment are unable to do the extent to which the struggle to develop "deadwood" among the undergraduates.

Those who hold this belief suggest that Doctor Comfort's recent suggestion that in addition to the present written examinations, which test adequately only the candidates for admission to a two-year added personal interviews of all candidates in which manhood, character, and physical development may be judged.

To them, it is obvious that the highly desirable type in which neither mind, character, or body is under-developed, is too busy with the usual extra-curriculum activities connected with senior year preparatory school to give the proper time to the preparation for College Board Examinations—and that consequently the results reported by the Board Examiners are far from an accurate basis for judging a candidate's desirability.

To this group it seems clear that Haverford must once reinforce her present entrance examination system in the manner advocated by Doctor Comfort, if she is to secure the type of first-year man on which she can afford to devote her efforts.

FACTULTY NOTES

President Comfort has recently been made a member of the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society; a member of the Executive Committee of the State Entrance Examination Board; and a member of the Executive Committee of the American Veterinary Schools and Colleges of the Eastern States and Maryland.

Dr. Rufus M. Jones spent the past week at the Oberlin College, Ohio, where he gave before the student body a series of lectures on "The Fundamental Ends of Life." On Sunday Dr. Jones preached at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, New York.

Professor Elihu Grant has published in the January issue of the "Grant Game," an article entitled "Mr. Coolidge as a Neighbor." The article outlines the character of the President as Dr. Grant learned it from his visits across the street with him for ten years.

DR. FITCH TALKS ON COMPROMISES

Professor Holds Personal Conferences With Students During His Visit

Professor Fitch, who is here on a personal visit, held a series of conferences with students during his stay. He discussed the question of compromises in various fields of life, emphasizing the importance of integrity and the dangers of compromise.

Professor Holds Personal Conferences With the Students During His Visit

The question of the advisability of compromise formed the general subject of a talk by Dr. Albert P. Fitch, a former professor at Amherst College, before the Y. M. C. A. at its last meeting. He discussed the question of compromises in various fields of life, emphasizing the importance of integrity and the dangers of compromise.

To illustrate the fact that compromises are unavoidable, Dr. Fitch mentioned some of the compromises that he had been forced to make in his career. He stated that he had been forced to make compromises in order to secure the best of results, but he emphasized that these compromises were not compromises in principle, but only in method.

Member of Class of 1854 Dies on Feb. 16

The death of John B. Garrett at his home in Rosemont on February 16 removes one of the oldest living graduates of the College and one who has been for many years most closely identified with its welfare. He graduated in 1851, he graduated in 1854. At various times he has occupied all the positions of honor in connection with the Alumni Association, and he was a Manager of the College from 1872-1914, as well as of Bryn Mawr College and of the William Penn Charter School.

His friends will remember his connection as an officer of the Girard Trust Company of Philadelphia and of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company. He was a minister in the Society of Friends and was connected with many Quaker interests within the confines of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting.

Haverford Man Now Heads Germantown High

Lealie Burchard Seely, '05, has been elected principal of Germantown High School. By accepting this post he will leave Roxborough High School, Philadelphia, where he has been principal for the past year. Prior to his appointment as principal of Germantown High, he served for eight years as head of the science department of Germantown High.

Immediately following his graduation from Haverford in 1905, Mr. Seely entered upon a teaching career, holding the position of head of the Manual Training High School, of Philadelphia, and one year afterwards he was promoted to the position of professor of science.

As well as being head of the department of science at Germantown High, Mr. Seely has been professor of physics at the Wagner Free Institute of Science since 1914.

rough volumes is also a wasteful procedure unless the purchaser desires the copy for sentimental reasons.

Before closing his talk, Dr. Snyder again advised against the rash purchase of supposed "bargains" from doubtful bookstores. He related a number of personal experiences undergone when he searched for books of varying degrees of rarity. By the exhibition of a number of copies of books, a practical demonstration of the types of binding and printing offered upon the market by the publishers was given.

Dr. Snyder's talk, the rest of the evening was spent in an informal discussion of the subject while refreshments were served.

DEBATING HAS HAD A LONG, VARIED CAREER

interest in debating was the formation in 1922 of the classical debating association of the class of 1925. This idea has been repeated by the class of 1927.

In 1927, another debate was held between the class of 1925 and the class of 1927 in a victory for Haverford. This debate was a single one.

Following a suggestion by Dr. Snyder, the Debating Council was formed this year consisting of D. L. Lord '25, J. F. Blair '24, W. P. Sessaman '25 and J. F. Blair '26, a second annual arranged a series of four debates, the first of which was with the Philomathean Society.

The debating victory of the Haverford team in this debate last Friday gives Haverford, out of ten debates with the Philomathean Society, a record of seven wins, two losses and one draw.

DUAL CONCERT WITH PRINCETON Symphony Orchestra, Glee Club and Banjo Club to Represent Princeton

Arrangements have been completed for the dual concert of the Musical Clubs with Princeton University scheduled for February 26, at the Foyer of the Academy of Music. This is one of the three big concerts of the year, and careful efforts are being made to bring the best of both sides to the stage.

This dual concert with a large university as Princeton offers the Musical Clubs an opportunity to show their ability to compare favorably with the best clubs in the East. Princeton will be represented by her Symphony Orchestra and Glee Club, together with a novel organization known as the Banjo Club. An interesting joint program will be presented by the Haverford Banjo Club combined. Following the concert, dances to music provided by Al Myers' Orchestra will continue until one o'clock.

TWO LITTLE THEATRE SCHOLARSHIPS OFFERED

Gloucester School, Gloucester, Mass. Offers Opportunity to Students

The Gloucester School of the Little Theatre, Gloucester, Massachusetts, is offering two scholarships to undergraduates of American schools and colleges for its fifth summer session, July and August of 1924. Letters for information concerning the scholarships to the Gloucester School of the Little Theatre should be addressed to Miss Florence Cunningham, 112 Charles Street, Boston.

In their Little Theatre, a picturesque old wharf building situated among the shipyards and studios, the Gloucester Players last summer produced almost thirty plays which included such pieces as: A Night At An Inn, Damsay; Wagon Wheel; Riders to the Sea; Sine; The Land of Hearts Desire; Yats; and Moon Tide, Clements.

RADIO CLUB'S BROADCASTING SET COSTS $485

College Society Invited to Join Intercollegiate Radio Club

An itemized account of the cost of the new broadcasting station was recently submitted to the Radio Club by W. S. Halstead '26, the designer of the set. The actual cost, $485, though exceedingly cheap for the quality of the set, is over twice the estimate made before construction was begun. The largest part of the expense was the cost of dismantling and erecting the tower for the aerial, which cost $170.

An invitation to join the Intercollegiate Radio Club, recently started by the City College of New York, has been received by President Patterson. Princeton University and New York University are among the members of the club. The matter was deferred pending an investigation.

The Radio Club's code station, 3BYN, will be worked from now on, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, from eleven till twelve. W. S. Halstead will have charge of this branch of activity, which is expected to keep the club in communication with other amateur radio clubs.

The tower length for this work is 200 meters.

At the meeting held on February 14, committees of one were appointed as follows: Battery charging, R. C. H. Green '26; Receiver, W. M. Leeds '26; Studio, M. C. Haines '26; answering cards from broadcast listeners, I. B. Smith '27.

A new constitution is to be drawn up. A committee for this purpose consists of M. Leeds '26, C. H. Green '26, and D. C. Lewis '26.

CLASSICAL CLUB REHEARSES PLAY

Two Performances of Plautus' Comedy to Be Given March 5

With only two more weeks of preparation, the cast of "Rudens," the Classical Club's presentation, is working up an abundance of rehearsal finished play on March 5. Rehearsals are being held three times a week in Roberts Hall, and the actors are guided in their various interpretations by Dr. Lockwood, who each year translates into English a play of one of the classical authors.

This year's play contains many elements that make it most entertaining. It is a comedy of action, excitement, pathos, and, of course, love. Unless the actors fail utterly to reproduce the spirit of the comedy, Dr. Lockwood forecasts, the onlookers will chuckle heartily at the rough treatment of Labrax; they will turn around in their seats to follow the glances of Separcnio; they will sympathize with the two unfortunate men, who, dripping wet, come down the aisle beseeching their fate.

As the two performances of "Rudens" have been advertised in all the local secondary school papers it is expected that the usual large number of prep school students will attend the afternoon performance of the Classical Club play.

PRESS CLUB PLANS SERIES OF FINE PROGRAMMES

Extends Invitation to Faculty to Attend All Regular Meetings

The program of the Press Club for the rest of the year has been definitely arranged and should prove of interest to all members and friends of the organization. The club wishes to extend an invitation to all faculty members and their wives to attend any or all of its meetings.

The next meeting is set for Tuesday evening, March 4, at which Jay E. House, of the Public Ledger, will speak. Mr. Austin K. Gray will address a meeting of the club on April 8 on the subject of "Unfinished Stories." On May 13 will come the big meeting of the year, when "Chick Morley" has promised to be the speaker. It is planned to hold the meeting in Roberts Hall and issue invitations to all applicants as long as seats in the auditorium last.

The Best Business Career

IS what every ambitious senior is thinking about at the present time. Life insurance is one of the best, one of the most desirable, and one of the most satisfactory as a permanent calling.

In assets and volume of business, life insurance is one of the three leading businesses of this country, yet the field is comparatively underdeveloped. Only 7 per cent of the economic value of human life in the United States is covered by insurance. This gives an idea of the big field still to be worked, especially business insurance for firms and corporations.

As to remuneration: Reports of college graduates who have entered business indicate that life insurance is at the very top as a source of income. Now is the time for you to consider what you are going to do after graduation. If you are ambitious and willing to work hard and are interested to know about life insurance, address

25 Debating Club to Meet This Thursday

A meeting of the Class of '25 Debating Society is scheduled to take place on Thursday, February 21, at eight o'clock in the Union, according to plans announced by the Secretary. Following the usual order of business there will be an extemporaneous debate, the subject of which will be declared three minutes beforehand. The group has decided to endeavor to increase its activity in consequence of a resolution passed last week to the effect that the Society ought not to be abandoned because of the valuable practice it offers in extemporaneous speaking.

FORM BRANCH OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS ASSOCIATION

Members of Class Thinkers Group Organize Local Chapter

Whether or not a chapter of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association should be formed at Haverford was the question discussed at a combined meeting of the Class Thinkers on Monday, February 11. Twenty of the twenty-five men present decided to organize a branch of the national association, and Horace Hellman, '25, and W. R. Samsam, '25, were chosen as an executive committee for the local body. The organization will not conflict with other campus activities, its purpose being merely to stimulate undergraduates thought upon the important national question of participation in world affairs. In return for the dues of fifty cents, each member will receive a subscription to the "League of Nations Herald," a bi-monthly paper which tells of the progress of the association towards causing the United States to enter the League of Nations. At the meetings of the chapter, which will not be frequent, informal discussions on the League will be held. Any one wishing to join the association is asked to communicate with Horace Hellman, who is now carrying on the correspondence of the body.

1924 TRACK SCHEDULE NOW ALMOST COMPLETED

Swarthmore Meet to Be Held Away on May 27

The track schedule for the coming season, drawn up by Manager Hagenauer, has been approved by the Athletic Council. The meet with Stevens was tentatively cancelled recently at their request because of some difficulties that have arisen at Stevens; but these may clear up before April and allow the meet to take place as originally scheduled. The affair planned for May 3 with New York University has not been definitely arranged as a dual contest; it is hoped that a triangular meet can be scheduled for this date although the third contest has not been decided upon. The schedule of meets is as follows:

- April 19, Stevens (conduct to be changed); April 25-26, Penn Relay, at Pennsylvania; May 3, New York University, at New York; May 8, Rutgers, at Rutgers; May 18, P. and M., at Lancaster; May 23-24, Middle Atlantic States' Championship, at Delaware; May 27, Swarthmore, at Swarthmore; May 30-31, I. C. A. A. A., at Cambridge.

BASKETBALL TEAM FACES HARD WEEK

Games to Be Played With Ursinus, Temple, and Probably C. C. N. Y.

In the coming week the Haverford basketball five will meet at least two, and probably three, opponents. The team will oppose Ursinus at Collegeville on Tuesday, and on Saturday Temple will be played in Philadelphia. The Ursinus and Temple games are also seriously considering a trip to New York to meet C. C. N. Y. Friday night.

In looking over the recent records Ursinus and Temple, the most indicative scores are those against Muhlenberg. The Allentown five trounced Ursinus, 40-21, and Temple, 31-28. It will be remembered that the Haverford-Muhlenberg score was 32-28. On the other hand, St. Joseph's only downed Ursinus by a score of 17-10. Haverford's line-up for the approaching contests will likely be the same as that which started against Ursinus and Temple line-ups are as follows:

Probable Line-ups of Opponents Ursinus: Temple Kern Forward Lutch Storer Forward Courtney Berk Guard Stuenkel Gotschlik Guard Chapman Helzer Guard Shair It is of interest to note that in a game played in the Swarthmore gym last Saturday, Rutgers more than doubled the Haverford and downed the Swarthmore five, 31-16.

Dr. Kelsey Addresses Meeting of Track Squad

A meeting to discuss the spring track situation was called by Coach Haddleton last Monday, February 11. The coach emphasized the need for observance of training rules in order to keep fit for the hard schedule ahead. Dr. Kelsey, who spoke next, reminded the track squad of Haverford's athletic position, and appealed to the team that they redeem the year's athletic record by another undefeated track season.

STRONG RUTGERS FIVE DOWN VARSITY, 40-24

Enander Stars for New Brunswick Team in Hard Fought Game

Facing a team, which is without doubt one of the strongest in the East this year, the Haverford basketball quintet put up a magnificent fight against Rutgers College at New Brunswick, February 13; and suffered defeat at the hands of this powerful aggregation, 40-24. The line-up of the Rutgers team presented a combination of height, speed and accurate shooting. Fast floor work and steady foul shooting alone kept the Haverford team in the scoring.

Rutgers was constantly on the attack from the start to the end of the game. Quick retrieving of the ball from the backboards by the Scarlet and Black guards prevented the score from mounting higher. The game was at times slowed up by fouling.

Enander, Rutgers' Star, Runs Wild In the first half, Enander, the high-point man of the game, scored again and again for Rutgers, both from close in and from the center of the floor. His eye seemed infallible, and in the first twenty minutes he accounted for five field goals. Captain Arnold and Vogel each managed to slip the ball through the basket once, but the forwards had trouble completing their plays, due to the power of the Rutgers' defense. Calhoun scored one field goal and Darwent added two more as a supplement to Enander's five baskets, making the score 20-10 at half time.

Substitute Team Continues Scoring Rutgers substituted new men at the beginning of the second period and each of these substitutes added a field goal. Haverford kept in the running with careful foul shooting, making 8 out of 10 chances count for single points. Captain Arnold scored two field goals in the second half for Haverford and Chadwick added one more. The end of the game found Rutgers leading, 40-24. Although the game was a defeat, the Haverford five played their best game of the season against the superior team-work of the Rutgers quintet.

HAVERFORD SECOND FIVE DEFEATS WOODLAND A. C.

Maguire and Wood Star in 33 to 11 Victory

Haverford's second team trounced the Woodland Athletic Club by a score of 33-11 last Thursday night, February 14, in the gymnasium. Maguire was high scorer for the college five, and his good work was only rivaled by Wood's careful foul-shooting. Hellman's speed and quickness constantly broke up the many opposing attacks. Every man of Haverford's quintet caged at least one two-pointer, while only three of the opposing team were able to score.

One of Hellman's long runs netted the first score and was immediately followed by a civer shot from Maguire, Wood soon afterwards added another to Haverford's steadily mounting total. In the first half the visiting team was only able to score three field goals. At the beginning of the second period both teams were unable to score, but a goal from Perring, who substituted for Smith, began a series of strong attacks in which Hellman, Maguire, and Wood found the basket for eight additional points. The game closed as Wood added his fourth field goal to Haverford's total, bringing the score up to 33-11.

"The policy of one's independence"

The quotation is from Rudyard Kipling's address at St. Andrew's upon becoming Lord Rector. It is an apt definition of the President's Old Age Endowment Policy. This is not only immediate insurance protection but also a provision for independence in Old Age.

COACH HADDLETON TALKS ON TRACK PROSPECTS

Tells News Reporter of Possibilities of Coming Season

Headed by an active and efficient leader, Haverford's prospective track team for 1924 presents a powerful combination. While severe losses were suffered from graduation last year, nevertheless Coach Haddleton hopes for success.

Real practice will start just after the spring recess. At present the general outlook indicates that the team is much stronger in the field events than in the track department. In the discus, javelin, and broad jump, the team is extra strong, while the prospects in the high jump, pole vault and shot-put are fair. There is but little material for the high hurdles, sprints and quarter-mile, although a better condition of affairs exists in the long and middle-distance runs and the low hurdles. The losses incurred by last year's graduation leave quite a gap. The loss of Captain "Puss" Allen, hurdler and sprinter, and winner of last year's Walton Cup, will be felt especially. Allen in dual meets, last year, annexed a total of 72 points, a total higher than any former Scarlet and Black star has ever scored. The squad will also be without the services of R. W. Leeds, sprinter; H. L. Wilbur, javelin thrower; W. W. Bacon, half-miler, who have also been lost through graduation. Nevertheless, the material at hand is more than ordinary. The team has for its leader Captain "Bill" Rogers, '25, in whom Coach Haddleton places unlimited confidence. Rogers is an all-round runner. His best event is the broad jump, but is also a fast man in the low hurdles and 220-yard dash. Coach Haddleton expects him to break the college broad jump record, 21 feet 8 inches, as he has already reached 21 feet 6 1/2 inches. The coach predicts that R. Montgomery, '25, will break his own record, 100 feet 1 inch, in the javelin throw, and expects that R. M. Thomas, '25, will also raise his record of 124 feet 4 1/2 inches in the discus throw. Lamberti, '26, is valuable in practically all the field events. Letzky, '26, should in large measure fill Allen's place in the high hurdles, while P. Sasasman has an excellent chance of making the college record in the mile. The record is 4 minutes 35 seconds; Sasasman ran the distance in 4 minutes 36.2 seconds in last year's Swarthmore meet. It is hoped that the two-mile record, 10 minutes 15.2 second, will also be bettered. The chief material for track at present is as follows:

Sprints: Rogers, Lowry, Patterson, Biele and Nock.
Low hurdles: Rogers, Lowry, Shihman, Calkin, Hookins.
High hurdles: Lowry, Roodenstein, Hastings.
Half-mile: C. H. Johnson, Greene, Hannum, Mile: P. Sasasman, W. Sasasman, Ball, Jolie, Campbell.
Two mile: Frasier, Hastings, Walton, Cocks, Campbell.
Quarter-mile: Rogers, Rhoads, C. Johnson, Shank.
High jump: Nash, Pitter, Burns, Tibball, Lowry.
Broad jump: Rogers, Reddeman, Lamberti, Discus: R. M. Thomas, J. Watson, Evans, Tibball.
Javelin: Montgomery, Lamberti.
Pole-vault: Hand, Chadwick, R. M. Thomas, Lamberti, Hookins.
Shot-put: D. Wilbur, Lamberti, Greene.

Before Alternating Current Dominated the Electrical Industry

What Engineering Owes to the Far-Sightedness of George Westinghouse

THE impregnable position now occupied by alternating current was attained only after a bitter struggle, for, due to its supposedly deadly characteristics, practically the entire electrical fraternity once opposed the progress of what was generally referred to as "Westinghouse Current."

Gaulard and Gibbs originated the alternating current system in Europe. Their system was impractical in many respects, but had been used with some success for lighting.

George Westinghouse became interested, and immediately recognized that the weakness of their system lay in the design and principles governing the transformer.

He devoted the resources of his organization to the development of the transformer. When he made it a practical unit, alternating current, with its vast commercial advantages, then became possible.

The beginning of the bitter struggle by George Westinghouse for the supremacy of alternating current goes back to 1885 and 1886. Remarkable progress has been made since then and voltages as high as 220,000 are in commercial use today.

Engineering owes much to the far-sightedness and fighting qualities of George Westinghouse.

The pathways of power are the highways of progress
