SOPHOMORES ELECT EIGHT TO ASSIST ON 1932 RECORD BOARD

New Policy Inaugurated as Suggested in Student Activity Report

NAME JUNIOR MEMBERS

Marking the first time that two classes have joined journalism and business forces to put out a "Record" book, announcements were recently made of elections from the present Junior and Sophomore classes to the two heads of 1932's year book staff. The announcements were made jointly by C. M. Allenderoff, '32, editor-in-chief, and R. H. Morgan, '32, business manager of the Record.

The Junior members of the Board who will have supervision of this work and will be assisted by this year's Sophomores, are: W. D. Wray, Sports Editor; T. F. Fox, Activities Editor; S. A. Hunt, Art Editor, and F. R. Walton, and W. W. Fuser, who will have charge of the individual Senior write-ups.

Selection of the Sophomores took place at their class meeting last week. The men elected to the editorial Board are: E. A. Carr, E. T. Bachmann, W. H. Hazard and H. J. Vaux. To the Business Board the following were elected: H. W. Scarborough, Jr., H. Scattergood, J. R. Sargent and R. B. Houston.

"The present Junior Class," declared Allenderoff, will have supervision of the work, but will be materially assisted by the present Sophomores. The following are the other systems and the following Sophomores will get experience and will know something of their job before they come into office; and the rush of work upon members of the Senior Class at the time of comprehensive examinations next June can be shifted to the Juniors.

"This is following out the suggestion made by the Students Council in adopting the student report on Extra-Curricular Activities. It is possible, but not assured that the Record will be made an all-college publication, trying to imitate the systems by the Haverfordian and News in training members of high offices in their organizations. This would assure an editor who had had experience and could put out a better Record."

The Canton Engraving Co. of Canton, Ohio, has received the contract for the engraving, while the Arthur Brown Co. of New York City have been awarded the contract for the photography. Both of these are the companies for Haverford's annual. It is expected that a representative from Arthur's will be on the campus for the Junior Day to take pictures of the class activities and the Prom to be used in the "Record."

SENIORS PLAN FOR PROM

Committee to Name Orchestra Soon for Dance on June 5

Recently appointed members of the Senior Prom committee are already at work to arrange details for the final dance of the year to be held in the Haverford gymnasium on June 5. T. B. Harvey, '31, chairman, and C. W. Reiser, J. W. Blyth, and G. F. Pennypacker, to serve on the committee. Reiser is to have charge of the tickets and programs, Blyth music, and Pennypacker decorations. Several orchestras have been heard and the committee is now working toward a final decision on the music.

Remove Cross-Quadrangle Road to Erect Gateway

Campus improvements now in progress include the removal of the road between the end of South Lloyd and Barclay Road. Between the Dining Hall and South Lloyd there will be constructed a 74-foot stone gateway in memory of the Class of 1905, according to H. J. Johnston, Superintendent. It is hoped that the construction of the gate and the removal of the road will be completed by Junior Day.

Plays for Prom

BERT LOWM

Orchestra leader at the Hotel Biltmore, who has been selected to furnish music for the Junior Prom, major campus social event, to be held in the gym on May 15.

PROM COMMITTEE INVITES FACULTY

Several Haverford Songs to Be Featured by Orchestra

Haverford's faculty has been invited to the Junior Prom for the first time in the history of this colorful event, according to G. P. Foley, '32, chairman of the committee.

Bert Lowm, who is to furnish the music for the event, has been sent several Haverford songs, which he will arrange and play during the course of the evening. There will be twenty dances, with the intermission coming between the twelfth and thirteenth dances, at which time supper will be served in Founders Hall.

To Swim at Martin's Dam

Arrangements are at present being completed for a swimming party to be held on Saturday afternoon and evening for holders of Prom tickets at the Martin's Dam Swimming Club in Wayne. Foley stated that Marwood's Dam has been placed left that it is one of the few places left that brings back memories of the old swimming hole. In the midst of sylvan beauties, a natural dam has created a lake about 100 yards in diameter in which several rafts have been placed. There also is a diving boat with three levels of diving.

The privilege of sending corsages, by tradition, will be reserved for Juniors only.

The Committee wishes to announce again that no tickets will be sold at the door. All those interested should contact the committee.

CLASSES NAME MEN TO SERVE ON NEXT STUDENTS' COUNCIL

Three Juniors, Three Sophs, Two Fresh Elected Thursday

TO CHOOSE OFFICERS

Elections of representatives to next year's Students' Council were held by the Junior, Sophomore and Freshman classes Thursday after supper. T. I. Potts, J. W. Settle and W. V. Sipple were named representatives of the Class of 1932; E. T. Bachmann, W. H. Russell, Jr., and H. Scattergood, of the Class of 1933, while R. R. Pleasant and P. B. Richardson will represent the Class of 1934.

Officers of the Students' Association are to be elected this Thursday by the student body, from the members chosen to the Students' Council. The representatives of the Class of 1932 are eligible for the office of President, and those of the Class of 1933 for the office of secretary. W. C. Baker, '32, Editor-in-Chief of the News and H. S. Gaskill, '32, vice president of the Cap and Bells Club, ex-officio members of the Students' Council, are also eligible for the office of president.

Potts Is Soccer Captain

Potts is captain-elect of the 1932 soccer team, among other activities. He has served as class president, former Student Council member, member of the Customs Committee. Settle has been a member of the Student Council, and has played in the Instrumental Club. Sipple is a member of the varsity golf team and has served as a member of the Student Council.

Bachmann is assistant manager of the 1931 soccer team, member of the sports staff of the Haverford News and is at present class secretary. Russell is a member of the varsity basketball squad, and was recently appointed a member of the Inter-Dorm Athletic Committee. Scattergood is a member of the Jayvee soccer team and former class president.

Rhinie Presidents Chosen

Pleasant was on the varsity football team, has been class president, is a member of the Glee Club and the Students' Council, and is now captain of the varsity track squad. Richardson is at present class president, a member of the Students' Council and a member of the track team.

RADIO CLUB ELECTS BACON

Plans for an amateur broadcasting station were made at a recent meeting of the Radio Club at which E. R. Bacon, '32, was elected president, and E. C. Loomis, '32, was elected secretary. Loomis also decided to continue the code classes and has talks with undergraduates on the theory of elementary radial principles.

SUCCESSOR TO MERCER

At the recent annual business meeting of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Association, Haverford College was awarded the honor of having Dean H. Tatnall Brown elected president of the body. He succeeds Dr. Leroy Mercer, of Swarthmore, to this position. The importance of the achievement of this success is not without its significance in that it places Haverford in an even more favorable position within the Association.

When asked to comment on Dean Brown's election, James A. Baylitt, former Athletic Director gave the following statement:

"A signal athletic honor has come to Haverford College in the election of Dean H. Tatnall Brown to the presidency of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Amateur Athletic Association. This organization second only in influence only to the national body (I. C. A. A.) in the Eastern portion of the United States, has been the dominant factor in welding together that athletic interest of the smaller colleges.

"It has grown rapidly, new colleges are constantly beseezing its doors of entrance, its records of personal and team athletic achievement and its stimulus to clean amateur sport has been excellent. Dean Brown succeeds Dr. Leroy Mercer, of Swarthmore, who has presided over this body for decades and now returns to take up his greater physical direction work at the University of Pennsylvania.

Dean Brown Well Fitted

"Dr. Mercer was ably assisted for many years by John Hooper, '21, until the latter's withdrawal from college work in the capacity of Alumni Secretary and Graduate Manager during the association.

"The mantle of responsibility has now fallen on Haverford's able representative.

"Dean Brown's wide experience, brilliant personal athletic achievement, tactful athletic administration, dignified personal bearing and unquenchable athletic enthusiasm, make this appointment an eminently appropriate one."

A large majority of the member colleges of the M. A. S. C. A. A. were represented by delegates at the meeting. It was decided that, provided there was no conflict with Lafayette's intercollegiate program, the Middle Atlantic track meet will be staged at that institution in the spring of 1932. Gaskill Made Vice-President for Next Year; 27 New Members Chosen

LAVERY RE-ELECTED

Forty-seven graduate and student members of the Cap and Bells Club met at the annual banquet of the organization held in the Old Y Room Saturday night at 7.30. A business meeting, preceding the banquet, resulted in announcements of officers for next year. Managers and assistants of the Musical Club and plays, stage manager and assistant for the annual dramatic production and chairman and members on numerous committees.

M. Alexander Laverty, '17, was re-elected president of the Cap and Bells Club. H. S. Gaskill, '32, is vice president. Fred Freuler, '12, and R. S. Woodward, '32, are secretary and assistant, and H. Tatnall Brown, '32, and H. Bijur, '32, are treasurer and assistant, respectively.

The elections and appointments announced at the business meeting and banquet complete those for the club for next year with the exception of a leader for the Instrumental Club. Recent elections in this branch of the Cap and Bells Club resulted in a tie between H. Bijur, '32, this year's leader, and D. B. Longaker, '32, a member of the Instrumental Club and the leader of the Haverfordians. The executive committee, consisting of Ralph Mellor, '99; John C. Lober, '27; Thomas Kearney, '20; Tyson Stokes, '28; F. E. Cummings, '24; E. J. Andrews, '32, and H. T. Clough, '31, will convene and render a decision on this matter in the near future.

MELLOR SPEAKS FIRST

First speaker at the banquet, Ralph Mellor, a former president of the organization. Mr. Mellor commented on the activities of the club throughout the year with the exception of William, '23, was the next to speak, recounting amusing experiences on trips taken by members of the club. The remarks of John C. Lober, '27, were the next to be heard. Brief remarks were also made by T. B. Harvey, '31, retiring president; G. B. Edgar, '31, retiring business manager; H. T. Clough, '31, retiring business manager; W. M. Maier, '31; W. P. Bentz, director of the Glee Club, and Lina Seiler, '02.

K. Fite, '33, and J. W. Masland, '33; P. E. Truex, '33, chairman of the Play Committee; business manager, H. T. Clough, '31.

Grant Passes Justinian Remains; Delve Into Late Israelite Period

Uncover Wall Crumbled by Arab Attack; New Sherds Indicate City 1000 Years Older Than Present Level

Several new problems have met the 1931 edition of the Haverford Expedition at Beth Shemesh, according to the statement of the director, Ethna Grant, professor of Biblical Literature in a recent letter to the News. "Conditions in the country's business are such as to make employment and ready money very appreciable. For the first time we have twice as many applications for work as we can handle with our funds. We have about 150 laborers on the hill at present."

to come on the late Israelite period, which in former years was our first result. The old Greek Monastery was cleared before the World War. We have, for a week, been uncovering the houses surrounding.

"Straight through our area, East to West, runs a powerful wall which we result. The old Greek Monastery of the associated buildings when the sacred enclosure resembled a Christian fortress. But this availed little when the enthusiastic soldiers of a new, virile Arab faith smashed their way into the territories of the Byzantine Empire. At one place in the line of the wall, we have seen the imagine the fury of the World War as it raged through, uprooting the wall for roads, where our diggers have come on a chaos of debris."

THE NEWS EDITORIAL POLICY

Editorials in the News do not necessarily represent the opinion of any group connected with the college. Contributions to the Politics and In-the-Mail columns are welcomed. They must be signed; the signature to be published with the letter. The News must remain sole judge of their suitability.

Room Choosing

It is hard to say surely to what extent the purpose of the present system of roomchoosing is being abused. As usual a great many who plan to disturb the impartial working of the venerable machinery will fail to do so through lack of opportunity, because their nerves fail them, or for various other reasons. Few would deny that the spirit of impartiality can be and is violated each year and that, viewing conditions impersonally, the situation is regrettable.

One principle we oppose is the monetary penalty for transferring; it is quite conceivable that some students might be willing to take the fine in order to get the suite they wanted. It is also possible that others who would like to do this cannot afford it and are consequently at an unfair disadvantage. The sum is not enough to be prohibitive and its principle is unjust. Could not some penalty be devised which would stop the practice or at least affect all students alike?

Should two of next year's Seniors be kept out of New Lloyd by one of their classmates who has a good choice and has taken an underclassman for a roommate? Is it fair that a trio of Juniors-to-be should miss their chance because of a Senior taking in two people below him on the list? Is it all right for a day student to take in one of a trio on his good choice, then deciding in the course of the summer that he will stay at home after all and step out, making way for the third man who has meantime been slated for a single room in some other dormitory? We think that these are flaws and on the strength of this conviction tentatively suggest the two following measures:

- (1) Combinations from two or more classes should not be able to get rooms by retention of the man in the higher class.
 - (2) Combinations as described above should be allowed to choose at the head of the lowest class represented in the group, being regulated among combinations by the number of the highest man.
- That is, if a Senior wishes to room with a Junior, he shall take his choice just before the Junior class, his precedence over other mixed groups being determined by his class and ranking in the draw.
- Some will say that this is unfair to the upperclassman, that it discourages the free intermingling which is so desirable in a small college. We feel that the latter point is unimportant besides the great advantage of not having men dispossessing their own class. If rooming with an underclassman is bound to cause unfairness somewhere why not at least force the man with the higher number to take some of the burden?

Responsibility

Several weeks ago we printed a letter on the need of a greater feeling of responsibility by those who accept extra-curricular offices. The question is an important one; everyone must do his duty promptly and well if his organization, and indirectly the College, is to keep its standing and self-respect.

Some of the outside activities have more or less stereotyped work in connection with them, in all there are certain things which must be done and performed as done. Our plea is for an increased amount of labor beyond the point of necessity, for a more active and self-critical attitude in the various departments.

The Student Council and some of its sub committees have been very active this year. Student reports have stimulated investigation into conditions, the Constitution of the Students' Association has been smoothed out, various clubs have shown surprising vigor, and, in general, undergraduates have been doing a little more than the minimum necessary to keep affairs going.

With the coming of Finals, new men are going to be selected to guide the clubs and other groups through the next year. Let us hope that they will have the ability and energy to not only maintain, but improve the activities which represent the College.

Liberal Club Lectures

While on the subject of energy and successful efforts we are forced to congratulate the Liberal Club on the four major speakers they secured for the College this year.

Names such as: Burton French, Sherwood Eddy, Barton K. Wheeler, and Norman Thomas speak for themselves. The only disappointing factor in these lectures was the small student attendance. The men had as a rule respectable audiences because of the visitors from outside. Still, it would show a much less complacent spirit if students would turn out in greater numbers, as we hope will be the case if the club continues its sterling work next year.

Attorney's For the Defense

While we sat smarting passively—that is, while we stood with our elbow on the mantle-piece (smarting)—under the blows of the anonymous contributor to this column last week another letter was handed under our door. We print it below with a good deal of pleasure. We really had been feeling badly over "His Majesty, the Queen" after we received that letter which we printed last week. We'd begun to think we had committed all sorts of low and evil sins. We slept badly. We mistook a Dean's notice for a Black-hand letter. Pretty much upset, all in all. So this letter was a relief. It was Noah saved with green branch in its beak. Here it is:

Dear Al:
I believe that a word should be said in your defense against that unwarranted attack. The part of the anonymous backguard who took such silly exception to your rendering "Her Majesty, the Queen" as "His Majesty, the Queen." Only a pedant or any other person devoid of a sense of humor would think of holding up a finger of shame against that bit of sheer fun-making. I was there at the time, and I tell you frankly that I got most of a kick out of that line that did out of any other line in the whole show. The action was slowing up a bit and "His Majesty" caught the audience unawares with humorous ease. It was a word which did not overwork the gag. But that one application of it, coming as it did with your last appearance upon the stage, was nicely calculated. We thank you for giving us the opportunity to bellow loud and heartily at something that, when you come right down to it, was true and logical.

Yours

Thank you Mr. Electrolux. Let's go down to the ice-box and have some sardines.

Contribution
While we were investigating the front of Barclay we found something that we never saw before. It's a Latin quotation carved and well hidden over the door. We were going to print it this week, but a scholarly touch, but decidedly didn't know what it was all about. And since we have seen and heard several unprintable things in Barclay, we thought it best to hold off because the censors might get you for running something off color.

Speaking of censorship, we were extremely delighted to hear that someone had been able to shut general Butler up at least temporarily. He said "hell" (naughty word) over the radio. If they are going to censor the sending part of radio broadcasting, you think they might do something to alleviate that censorship that necessarily takes place so many times on the receiving end? Let us explain.

All of you who have gotten up at seven o'clock to study History 1, Physics or Chemistry, and who have most likely heard the "Mystery Announcer" of WPEN. The only mystery about him is how he ever comes up to his boss that was worth any money at all. Interspersed between pieces that he plays (on the phonograph) are some jokes like his "one: Little Johnny didn't want to go to his spinster mother, he said, 'him that if he did he would grow up to be a handsome man and all the girls would like him. After thinking for a while, Johnny turned to his bachelor uncle and said, 'Uncle, why didn't you eat spinach?'"

None of the jokes are better than that, most of them are much worse. They are good for the best part of an hour. Some listeners cuss and faint at the end of fifteen minutes, others survive, but swear vociferously throughout the whole performance. Some listeners want to cut out swearing in connection with broadcasting, they should tend to people like the "Mystery Announcer," because his kind are busy all through the day.

THE COLLEGE WORLD

By Horace K. Dugdale

An enterprising Lehigh student-chemist met with grave disaster in a Bethlehem restaurant eating soup recently. He had a test tube containing red phosphorus and potassium chlorate in his vest pocket and the friction from hastily inhaling his soup caused the concoction to explode. He is recovering, but the accident blew off his coat and vest, hurled a plate across the room against the head of another patron and caused a regular Chicago hold-up scare.

College Editorials
Arthur Brisbane, famed columnist, addressing a convention of college and school-editors, publishers and writers at Columbia in New York recently, said that the editorials of college newspapers are in a position to be among the most useful in journalism because "they reach the young mind while it is open to new ideas."

The Real Collegian
A dean of McGill University says: "College men? Well, for one thing I think the gin-rubbing rub-rub type is prevalent in the College men are too busy to be collegiate nowadays. So far as I have been able to observe, this university is represented by just as fine a type of manhood as in "the good old days."

Bouncers—
The honor system doesn't work at the University of Virginia—at least that part of it dealing with the problem of reporting oneself for imbibing or taking a snifter at one of the college's social functions. The undergraduate newspaper advocates a plan of bouncers to eject any student who appears soused. The honor system, they believe, "was never meant to prevent acts not in themselves dishonorable."

Political Pull
That's the term used to describe the method used by two Senators to renege their obligations. They were expelled from the Naval Academy last year for smuggling two girls into the mess hall by dressing them as Midshipmen. By the way, one of the girls was a freshman. The day, and she didn't marry the Navy!

EXTERIOR DECORATING DEPARTMENT

Harry Carter is ready and waiting for you when you get up and show every time you go from Founders to Lloyd. The other morning a couple of the boys pitched in and did some neat work with the flagstones. We haven't gotten over it yet. We're entirely in favor of taking that hunk of road out, and as we see it there's a great chance for Harry to pick up some labor checks if there was anyway. Just in case there's another wholesale suspension why wouldn't it be a good idea to put me suspects to work on the road? That wouldn't be much fun and you could keep an eagle eye on them.

Our central intelligence bureau informs us that they're going to rip up the sidewalks and put down flagstones. That's a great idea, too. We've always objected to the sidewalks around here, mainly because when it rains they're built so to catch all the water that comes their way. So there's no point to walking on the sidewalks then. And when it isn't raining there's no use anyway. So flagstones will give the old walks just the right touch of picturesque uselessness. If they run out of flags they might use a few of the training-table flags.

We're still holding out for contributions to this column. Let 'em come. Only please don't go impressionistic.

STONE MADE SCHOOL HEAD

Albert H. Stone, '16, has been appointed Headmaster of the Iolani School, Honolulu, a large Episcopal school for boys. For the last twelve years, Stone has been Headmaster of the Kuling American School in China. After June 1 of this year, Mr. Stone's address will be The Iolani School, Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii.

Novel Courses
The most practical and beneficial course listed under this column seems to appear in a catalogue at the University of Rennes. It consists of a series of ten lectures by Mr. M. Serton, famous essayist, and former Harvard student, on American Civilization and Literature. Men at Ohio State requested that they might take courses in cooking, and their desire has been fulfilled. Boston University advocates a course in nursing, cooking or home-making, to be required of all co-eds. "The Average Woman," they say, "even though she has earned her bachelor's degree, knows little about managing a home, and no matter how great her education may be, her University of California pops up with another new one in "How to Keep Well When Travelling in the Tropics."

HURRY UP
There'll be only one snap course allowed to each customer at Western Reserve University. One professor there has had eighty chairs added to his classroom, now seating 180, and he still finds that he can't take care of all his customers. "Sign up early and avoid the rush," he says.

The BIGGEST Three
Dean Walters, of Swarthmore, in a recent article on college enrollment, stated that 3 1/2 per cent. more students are in colleges this year than last. The largest universities in the country, counting only full-time students, is U. of California, with 17,322. But the three big boys are Columbia, with 15,144; New York U., with 29,214, and C. C. N. Y., with 24,752.

Pretty Fresh
Publicly boasting of one's disobedience always ends badly. Two Freshmen at Dickinson were pretty proud of the fact that they had broken every freshman rule—until the sophomore vigilance committee got out the Gulleites and shaved their heads.

Criticism?

To the Editor of the News:
Dear Sir:
What has been done on amateur plays usually means a month and a half of tiring, often unpleasant grinding for a performance of one or two nights. The reward of the players is not the applause which they receive on the programme, that comes by convention, they get it by pity, no matter how poorly they perform. It is the players who look for an intelligent criticism that takes enough interest to show the faults. The last few presentations have been received by either a bored indifference or an insane enthusiasm. For the "Queen's Husband" there appeared several announcements of its occurrence and a list of characters, otherwise obtainable from the programme. "Hamlet" received one write-up without one bit of helpful criticism. This is very discouraging to one who has put time and energy into something which later appears to be worth not even a few thoughts. It is much more gratifying to learn that the performance was absolutely terrible than being confronted with a synopsis of the plot.
For "Dr. Faustus" a competent critic was found who could score as well as praise. Couldn't there be a similar person found for future plays?
Yours sincerely,

THREE SPEAK IN MEETING

Friendship Topic of Katzenbach's Talk; Flight, Steere Also Speak
Dr. John W. Flight spoke at meeting Thursday on "collecting," and the words that are worth living with. Dr. Douglas V. Steere followed, taking for his topic the meaning of the story of Achilles' heel, which was the subject of the meeting. Katzenbach, '32, then gave a brief talk on adventures and friendship, which he said made the rarest and most interesting of collections, being a joy both to the collector and to the objects of his fancy.

HAVERFORD SQUAD LOSES WILLIAM AND MARY MEET

Scarlet and Black Runners Easily Conquer Blue Hen Team As Edgar Wins Twice; William and Mary Sweeps Javelin

FIELDS, MASLAND STAR IN DEFEAT

Haverford College's cindermen finished with its busiest week with one victory and one defeat on its record. The first of the two meets was with the University of Delaware, and resulted in the Scarlet and Black's second dual meet win of the current campaign. Eight firsts, eight seconds and nine thirds were the places accumulated by the Scarlet and Black in defeating the Blue Hens, 72½ to 53½. White, of the visitors, was the individual high scorer of the afternoon with eleven points. He won the broad jump and the 100-yard dash, and also placed third in the 440-yard run. He was hard pressed for individual honors by R. Edgar, of the Haverford squad. The latter won the mile and two-mile for a total of ten points. Strandwitz, star high hurdler of the Mud Hen aggregation, had nine points as the result of his afternoon's work. He won the high hurdle event, and also tied with Sloan, a teammate, in the pole vault.

Haverford made clean sweeps in two events. Hoag, Schramm and Fields, in that order, took all the places in the shot put, and Jopson, Masland and Andrews crossed the line in succession in the low hurdles. Masland also finished in the runner-up position in the high hurdles to contribute a total of six points to his team's sum for the day.

Virginians Win Middle Distance
William and Mary College's track squad, the second to invade Haverford within a week, was more successful than the others that have come to lead the Main Line runners on their home ground, and handed the Haddietonmen an 82½-43½ defeat. The loss was the first dual meet that the Scarlet and Black runners have dropped since Swarthmore turned the trick in 1925. The Southerners brought a well-balanced squad to Haverford. They placed in every event, taking first in nine of the fourteen contests, and making a clean sweep in one, the javelin throw. In addition, they took nine second places, three thirds, and a tie for third in the javelin, their greatest victories came in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, the 880-yard and mile runs, and the pole vault.

Johnson, sensational distance runner of the visitors, was the outstanding performer of the meet. His easy striding carried him to victories in the 880-yard run and the mile run. In both races he was followed to the tape by a teammate, with a Haverfordian in third position. Johnson's ten points captured in these two contests gave him high-scoring honors.

Fields and Masland led the Scarlet and Black in point gathering with eight points each. Fields won the shot-put with a heave of 42 feet 5½ inches, and was second in the discus. Masland was the first Haverfordian to score in the meet when he followed Dagget, of the visitors, across the finish line in the high hurdles. He won his favorite event, the low hurdles, in 26 seconds flat. Only three other members of the

RHINIES BEAT WESTWOWN

Upper Darby Runners Defeat Freshmen as Bancroft Stars

Although defeated on Wednesday by Upper Darby High School by the score of 74-43, the Freshmen track team came back on Friday afternoon to conquer Westwown School, 43-29. The victory was the first of the year for the Rhinies, and the win was worthy of praise. The Scarlet and Black first year men relied mainly on their strength in the running events to take the meet.

Seniors Lose Alumni Prize to Underclassmen Rudge and Haines

Compensating for a defeat last year in the Sophomore-Freshman debate, C. L. Haines and F. G. Rudge led the Junior Class to victory in the annual Junior-Senior debate held in Roberts Hall Thursday night. The judges, Herbert Painter, '18; Dr. Don Carlos Barrett, professor of economics, and Archibald MacIntosh, Alumni Secretary, awarded a 2-1 decision to the Juniors, who, in their estimation, proved more conclusively than the Senior team, J. D. Crossin and W. M. Teller, could disprove "that it is to the best interest of the United States to cancel the World War debts owed us by European nations."

Dr. Edward D. Snyder, Associate Professor of English, introduced the four speakers. Rudge was the first speaker for the affirmative. He outlined the arguments of his team, pointing out that cancellation was necessary in the light of sound economic and political principles. His chief contention was that, in order to increase our present rate of economic trade, it was necessary to cancel the debt and allow normal trade to ensue.

Teller was the first speaker for the negative side. He divided his argument into four points. In the first place, he explained, cancelling the war debts places an increased burden on the American taxpayer. In the second place, such an act will create a dangerous precedent. In the third place, cancellation will sanction Russia's repudiation of her debts. In the fourth place, such action would make the United States pay for the World War.

"Cancellation Helps Peace" As the second speaker for the affirmative, Haines made clear the fact that the opposition was making the issue a romantic, sentimental question and not looking at it from a purely political and economic standpoint as he believed they should. He closed his remarks with the statement that above all things, cancellation "would further world peace."

Crossin presented the closing remarks of the opposing side. "The influx of goods," he said, "is not hurting American trade. Under the system now in operation, successful triangular trade is being carried out. Rudge closed the affirmative argument with a five-minute rebuttal, followed by the announcement of the decision of the judges. Winning the Senior-Junior debate, makes Rudge and Haines recipients of the Alumni prize of $50, offered each year in this competition.

See Lower Building Walls
The lower building walls have already been seen. "They run," says Dr. Grant in his letter, "in no relation to the lines of the upper ruins and are probably a thousand years older. This is not guess work since for a week we have been finding late Israelite sherds mixed with the Byzantine. They have worked up, or, more often, been stirred up by the operations of builders and farmers through the ages between Nebuchadnezzar and Muhammad."

of May 13 and 14 were set. It was also agreed that this annual meet will again be held at Haverford in 1933.

New System of Marking

Among the minor business attended to was the new requirement that all sprinter and hurdlers report back at their respective lanes after their race. This year's meet will feature a new system of identification for the entries. Each college will be designated by a letter to be worn along with the entry's number on a large cloth marker. Thus it will be much easier to recognize quickly the different competitors than by the former number system.

At another meeting, on Friday evening, April 24, the new Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate Soccer League was formed and a constitution and by-laws framed. President of the new association is Mr. K. C. Dell, of Princeton. Vice President, Dean H. Tatnall Brown, of Haverford, and Secretary-treasurer Mr. E. Paul Patton, of Pennsylvania.

Member institutions of the new league which will start functioning in 1932 are Cornell, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Lehigh, Swarthmore and Haverford.

Achibald MacIntosh, graduate manager of athletics at Haverford, has been made chairman of the local group of the Eastern Pennsylvania Association for the Selection of Football Officials.

Pro Bono Total Is $1200 Under Last Year's Mark

A decrease of over twelve hundred dollars is shown in the Pro Bono fund according to a report from the office of Archibald MacIntosh, alumni secretary. $541 was received in response to the latest letter to alumni, raising the total to date to $4937.00 or $1283.00 below last year's figures. The sum reported last year was considered unusually low, but this year's total, to which little will be added during the remaining months of this period, is unprecedented.
