Morgan, Rohrer Elected To Cap And Bells Posts

Atmore, Hogenauer Out; Bockstoe Replaces R. Gibbs

TRUEX HEADS PLAYS

V. P. Morgan, '35, will succeed R. C. Atmore, '34, as vice president of the Cap and Bells for the coming year. It was announced after the annual business meeting of the society held Thursday night in the Union. G. Rohrer, '35, was chosen to lead the Glee Club during the coming season, in place of E. F. Hogenauer, '34.

Morgan, who has been connected with the Musical Clubs in the capacity of assistant personnel manager and will take charge of that department next year, is also director of the Haverford Press Bureau. He has also served on various dance committees of the present Junior Class.

Rohrer has been singing in the Glee Club in the baritone section for the past two years. He is also member of the News Board, writing the "Crow's Nest."

C. Mc. Bockstoe, '35, takes over the position of Business Manager of the Musical Clubs, succeeding R. O. Gibbs, '34. Bockstoe is next year's manager of soccer, business manager for the 1935 Record Board and secretary of the News. He is also a member of the Haverford Press Bureau.

Lodge and Sheppard, '35, chosen H. T. Lodge and W. E. Sheppard, both of whom have been assistant managers of the Musical Clubs for the coming year. As yet no leader of the Instrumental Club has been named to succeed H. B. Jones.

Besides Morgan, other undergraduate officers are W. S. Stoddard, '35, assistant secretary, and F. F. Patten, '35, assistant treasurer. President Laverty also appointed H. E. Truex, '35, as chairman of the Play Committee and A. Jardine Williamson, '35, as chairman of the Graduate Managers' Committee. Managers for next year's play will not be announced until the end of the year.

Alumni officers chosen at the meeting include M. Alexander Laverty, '17, who was re-elected president; John C. Lober, '27, again chosen to be the secretaryship, and H. Tattall Brown, Jr., '23, treasurer.

Executive Committee Named

The executive committee includes: Ralph Mellor, '09; Mr. Laverty, William Maler, '26; W. Nelson West, '24; R. C. Atmore, '34; C. G. Smith, '35; R. W. Ritchie, '35; E. L. Tomkinson, '36, and A. S. Dulany, '36.

Theodore Whittlessey, '28; W. H. Haines, '34, and B. E. Cadbury, '35, make up the membership committee. Fourteen students were elected to membership in the Cap and Bells. They are R. B. Jones and T. M. Knight, '34; C. M. Bockstoe, B. E. Cadbury, E. C. Kunkle, E. H. McKinley, V. P. Morgan, F. F. Patten, C. B. Watkins, '35, and B. Braucher, A. S. Dulany, R. M. Hutchinson, C. Perry, H. L. ## Soph Class Lists Major Subjects

Chemistry Most Popular Field With Twelve Students

Largely because of the popularity of the pre-medical major, the Chemistry Department has the largest number of majors from the class of 1936. When the major cards, which all but three of the Sophomores handed in before the deadline, May 1, were tabulated, it was found that twelve students had chosen this major. There are only six Chem majors in the Junior and Senior classes combined. Biology, which might also be expected to show an increase, dropped from six to four.

Economics, with eleven, is second. The other social sciences were also quite popular, ten choosing History and seven Government. Three took advantage of the new Sociology major.

Interest Low in Languages

Interest in languages remained low, only five students choosing to major in the four departments of Greek, Latin, French and German. There are no students planning to major in Astronomy or Biblical Literature. Philosophy, with seven sophomores, shows an increased popularity. Four

Sophs To Oppose Rhinies In Annual Speech Trial; Dr. Comfort To Preside

Adkins, Miller, Wolf Make Up Sophs' Team; Andrews, Krueger, and Polster For Freshmen

Thursday, May 10, has been chosen for the date of the annual Sophomore-Freshman public speaking contest. Freshman Comfort will preside, and the contest will be at 8:15 in the auditorium of the Haverford Union.

E. D. Adkins, J. D. Miller, and R. B. Wolf will represent the Sophomore Class; H. A. Andrews, H. H. Krueger, and W. A. Polster, the Freshman Class. Wolf was awarded the Everett Society Medal for Public Speaking last year.

Each speaker is to discuss a topic of his own choice in a ten-minute extemporaneous speech. In the Freshman Class group, Andrews will speak on "Oxford Buchmanism," Krueger on "An Inquiry Into The American Race Problem," and Miller, "Obligations to Family and Society." The judges of the contest will be: Park Hays Miller, chairman; Charles Wharton Stork, '02, and Calvin W. Laufer.

Prom To Climax Colorful Junior Day Attractions

Baseball and Tennis Are Featured; Ivy Planting First on List

FETTIS AT TEA DANCE

Climaxed by the Prom with Freddy Martin, providing the music, traditional Junior Day will get under way at one-thirty Friday afternoon with the annual Ivy Planting. Athletic events on the baseball diamond and tennis courts will be supplemented by the tea dance in the Union from 4 to 6.

F. E. Foerster, president of the class, announced the first activity of the day will be the planting of a bit of ivy, at a spot not yet decided upon. If customary procedure is followed the entire college will be able to attend, since the faculty usually grants a half holiday for the occasion.

Ball Game and Dance Featured

Relying upon the pitching of Ed Tripp, and with high hopes, the baseball team encounters Swarthmore in the single game scheduled this season with our arch rival. The game is due to start at two o'clock, probably being completed before the tea dance. The Johns Hopkins team will be met on the courts.

The maestro of the afternoon will be Jim Pettis, who playing with his eleven-piece orchestra at the La Casa ballroom in Philadelphia. Noted as a follower of the Lombardo style of rhythm, Pettis also has the services of Eimer Feldkamp, formerly vocalist with the Town. Chairman Trembath announced that the favorable reception accorded the Pettis orchestra by those who heard it during the week over the radio, combined with the $1 admission charge, should draw a large attendance.

Food for the tea dance has been donated by the Faculty Women's Club. Mrs. J. Leslie Hotson, as chairman

Alumni Invited To Haddleton Dinner

Banquet Honoring Track Coach to Follow Meet With Swarthmore

Invitations to 160 of Alfred W. ("Pop") Haddleton's former track men have been sent out for a special dinner to be given in his honor after the Swarthmore track meet on May 19. The dinner is to be held at 7 o'clock in the old "Y" Room.

Many acceptances have already been received from alumni, who, according to the letter of invitation, are "to show Pop that his proteges of former days are squarely behind him." It will be an evening of fun and congeniality, with Pop as the principal speaker and with the floor open to every one for the purpose of recounting tall stories of inter-class meets, hardships of training, competitive chivalry, and other "Popiana."

Special Rate for '34 Squad

Alumni will be charged $1.50 for the dinner "including appropriate trimmings." A special rate of 75 cents will be made for members of the 1934 track squad. The alumni are also encouraged to attend the meet in the afternoon at Swarthmore.

The committee arranging for the dinner is headed by John R. Hoopes, '21. Those assisting him are: A. Macintosh, '21, H. M. Allen, '21, R. G. Grigg, '23, H. Tattall Brown, Jr., '23, W. G. Rogers, '25, E. E. Lower, '26, Stewart Hopkins, '27, J. S. McDonough, '28, H. K. Ensworth, '29, J. H. Morris, Jr., '30, G. Gerendberg, Jr., '32, J. Andrews, Jr., '33.

Onderdonk Gives Talk On Australia

Describes Problems Since The War and Explains Political Situation

Professor Francis S. Onderdonk explained the Austrian situation since the war in an illustrated lecture in the Union, Tuesday, May 1. Professor Onderdonk, who teaches at the University of Michigan, spent a period of time in Vienna studying architecture. The speaker was introduced by Professor Rufus M. Jones.

He first showed posters of the three great Austrian parties, the Social Democrats, the Christian Socialists and the Fascist Party. The Social Democrats, he said, should be thought of as "pink" Socialists.

Marx Building Not a Fortress

In telling of the work of the Social Democrats, he showed about 15 pictures of the apartments which the built, especially the famous Karl Marx Building, which is six blocks long. He bitterly scored the statements that these buildings, with their many windows, are fortresses.

Delaware County Bach Society To Give Concert In Alumni Room Tonight

Group of Seventy Obtained by Mrs. Hotson Will Sing Under the Leadership of James Dash

The Delaware County Bach Society will give an informal concert in the Alumni Room tonight at 8 P. M. The society, a group of seventy men and women, under the leadership of James Allan Dash, will be the guests of the Haverford Madrigalists in their appearance here. Acknowledgments are due to Mrs. J. Leslie Hotson for obtaining the society.

The program will be the same as that presented at the Nevil Memorial Church of St. George in Ardmore on April 24, with the exception of the solo numbers. The two cantatas which will be sung are among the finest which Bach composed.

Harman To Head Student Council For Coming Year

Supports Sale of Tobacco in Coop. Store; Favors Gibbs' Policy

G. FRASER ELECTED

Welcomed by prolonged ovation, W. H. Harman, Jr., '35, took office as the new president of the Students' Association at luncheon on Friday following his election the previous day. G. C. Fraser, '36, was voted Secretary-treasurer.

Contrary to precedent, the students remained seated at the tables in the dining hall to cast their ballots. Out of a possible 284 votes, Harman received 150 and E. H. McGinley, '35, retiring Secretary-treasurer, received 134. Fraser was chosen by a small plurality over his Sophomore class-mates, A. R. Kane, Jr., and F. C. Evans.

To Support Gibbs' Policies

In a statement to the News, Harman pledged himself to a continuation of the policies of his predecessor, R. O. Gibbs, '34. He is definitely in favor of granting the Store Committee permission to sell cigarettes, and intends to give strong encouragement to the negotiations now being conducted between the Student Council and College authorities to achieve this purpose. He stated that he is firmly opposed to the return of liquor control to the student body.

Both newly elected officers are triple-sport men. Harman plays varsity soccer, basketball and baseball while Fraser is a Sophomore varsity football and baseball team and plays J. V. basketball.

Prominent on Campus

Harman, a former Episcopal Academy star, has been instrumental in two conquests over Swarthmore this year. He has won three varsity services for a diamond conquest Friday. He is a letterman of one year's standing in soccer, after having played on the third soccer team in his Sophomore year. He is also a letterman on the basketball and baseball teams. He will head the Scarlet and Black quintet next season. On the athletic field Harman has been equally prominent. He was elected Treasurer, the highest post in the student government is the climax of a career of service as a class representative. Besides being President of his class the last half of his Sophomore year and being a member of the class executive committee at the present time, Harman served on the Customs Com-

THE NEWS EDITORIAL

Editorials in the NEWS do not necessarily represent the opinion of any group connected with the college. Contributions to the In-the-Mail column are welcomed. They must be signed, but signature may be withheld from publication at the writer's request.

A Change in Style

WITH the present issue the News carries several innovations in head-line type, aimed at an improvement in appearance and legibility. The change from the old style embodies two main improvements. It brings the head-lines into a closer balance with the size of the page, eliminating the heavy head schedule which has been used in the past. The old style, while still used in a modified form in many daily newspapers, is now generally considered ineffective in the modern, smaller college weekly. The new type will be found to fit better into the make-up of the paper, harmonizing well without sacrificing emphasis.

By avoiding the former practice of using capitals entirely in the top decks of the head-lines and substituting instead the recommended "caps and small letter" style, the change offers the second advantage of easier and quicker reading, besides a greater flexibility in the use of different type sizes. The new style takes advantage of the best features available from local printing services.

It is hoped that the shift will soon demonstrate its value in improving the typographical make-up of the News. We trust that our readers will endorse the change and by their approval encourage its retention as a permanent feature. The final test is whether or not, after the novelty has worn off, the appearance of the paper is considered to have been improved.

Making Songs Singable

ALUMNI who were leaders of Haverford singing in their undergraduate days offered a challenge at the Cap and Bells meeting Thursday night. Under the leadership of the Glee Club, a slight improvement in the presentation of songs during the past year has been achieved. Interest in some of the old songs introduced last fall, however, has been practically dormant, due in the main to a lack of follow-up tactics.

The publication of the new song-book should be the step which will begin the revival in earnest. By the work of the four committee members, old and new songs have been collected in a practical form; and as it was conclusively proved at the banquet, they are genuinely singable. If students co-operate in securing for themselves copies of the book, the stage will be set for the return to an interest in college singing.

A passing suggestion from one of the committee that that interest be stimulated by frequent songs in Collection should prove valuable. But before that step can be effectively taken, the student body must be shown that it really wants to sing. Then Collection singing would be a proposition of multiple benefits.

A realization of the live enthusiasm of the alumni who are working on the song problem is the most convincing proof of the importance which they find in it and of their conviction that it is a possible achievement.

The Annual Questionnaire

IN ACCORDANCE with a noble custom the annual questionnaire is presented to annoy the student body. After the series of petitions and polls of the

THE CROW'S NEST

READY ALL

Haverford should have a crew. This statement may startle some of the more conservative readers of this column, but in line with the advance of the Second Century there is no reason why Haverford should not join the ranks with such institutions as Pennsylvania, Yale, Columbia, Harvard, Cornell, Cambridge and Oxford in this thrilling sport.

Furthermore, we have available resources that with little or no expense could be utilized for such purposes. The Pond, while not exactly ideal, would readily be transformed into the scene of a great regatta. What would be more impressive than one of these picturesque races on our campus? What more thrilling than flags flying, the shores lined with spectators, and bands playing as Haverford sweeps to victory over Oxford?

Use Corkscrew Principle

A spiral course could be arranged in such a manner that the first shell to reach a pole in the center of the pond would be claimed victorious. Or if this did not appeal to certain of our opponents, the crews could race in laps. This system would correspond to that used in swimming events. Upon crossing the Pond the crew could unspool its oars, leap from the shell, turn it around and sprint forth again.

An obstacle race could be devised. Spectators could throw logs and branches into the water to confuse the racers. This would not only provide something novel in the way of crew racing, but would demand extra skill in handling the shells.

If Haverford's student body could not produce enough crew enthusiasts, Bryn Mawr girls could be employed as coxswains. They are always anxious to take a great deal and due to the pining quality of their voices megaphones would not be needed. This would prove an economy measure. They would undoubtedly inspire our boys to greater speed. The oarsmen would attempt to pull away from the girls, not realizing that they were in the same shell. The result is obvious.

Taking all of these things into consideration, it will be an injustice to the fair name of Haverford if this matter is permitted to be dropped. Let us place our Alma Mater high in the realms of crew racing. Forward, Haverford!

Spring is the season of balls—golf, tennis, base, and moth. And speaking of balls, don't forget the Junior Prom. You've only four days left to write home for money! (Advt.)

STUDENT OPINION

THE HOUSE THAT WORK BUILT

Back in 1868 Samuel Armstrong, a Union general seeking to serve his country in time of peace, founded Hampton Institute for training negroes to be worthy of their newly acquired freedom. He built his institute on the principle of work—hard physical work—and that principle still survives. Every student, whether training for music, teaching, or business, is required to put in a number of hours learning a trade. It is a sound principle, for, with professional opportunities for negroes as scarce as they are, a college graduate never knows when he may have to fall back on a skilled trade in order to make a living.

There is nothing "theoretical" about their vocational training. The agricultural students feed the college; the Home Economics school clothe it to a large degree, and when they need a new building it is erected by the students of the Construction School.

As one visitor remarked: "Back at my college when the students need something they say, 'What's the matter with the Alumni?' or 'Why doesn't the Board of Trustees do something about it?' Down here when they want something done they go ahead and do it."

The students' subjects are also well emphasized. During the anniversary week the students in the Physical Education department, men and women, gave a remarkable exhibition of interpretive dancing. When asked whether the men might not think such activities undignified or effeminate, a Hampton student replied: "Any activity is well supported here. As a matter of fact, ten of the fellows in that last dance were varsity football players and the other two are our basketball stars." And, of course, there is music everywhere. The well-known Hampton quartet is but one of many such; there are two glee clubs, a choir and a band or two. No occasion is complete without some kind of first-class music.

The students are given a special philosophy of life,—special because they are negroes. They are taught an appreciation of negro culture, from the early grades of the Hampton experimental school and this appreciation is reflected in their music and dancing. In the college itself they are taught how to meet the problems which they as negroes will have to face. Learning a trade which is part of it; there must be an entire philosophy. And finally they go forth with the courage and faith to fight an uphill battle, the kind of that makes a superior race of an underprivileged one.

winter, it is to be hoped that some undergraduate opinion still remains to be expressed.

The reasons for continuing the questionnaire, other than the binding force of tradition, have to do with education and entertainment. But by not placing too serious emphasis upon the importance of the proceedings, it may be possible to forget a good deal of what is learned in the tabulation and count the whole business as recreation.

COLLEGE WORLD

But Do They Know How?

All of our old, strictly managed colleges are taking a turn toward loose morals. At Muskegon College the trustees recently made a radical move when they abolished a 97-year-old ban on card-playing and dancing.

Domestic Women Win

A cow-milking contest will soon be held between coeds of the Universities of Wisconsin and Minnesota. It has been announced.

The following recently appeared in the "Carolinian":

IN THE MAIL

DILLINGER A QUAKER?

To the Editor of the News:

I should like to say a word in refutation of several false statements that have been made recently in the press to the effect that John Dillinger is a Friend or decedent from Friends. The information upon which my statement is based has been received from reliable sources of the Society of Friends in Indiana.

John Dillinger's father and step-mother are not members of the Society of Friends and never have been. They have a large family, including and step-children, some of whom have attended the Friends' meeting at Mooresville, Indiana. Two of the girls have united in membership with that meeting. When John Dillinger was dismissed from the reformatory early in 1933, he was given a letter for any local minister to whom he might go for counsel and advice. He handed it to the Friends' minister at Mooresville, Indiana, Gertrude M. Reinler, and she did what she could to help him, as he expressed a desire to "go straight."

Early in the summer John and his father attended the Friends' meeting once, on Father's Day, and listened attentively to a sermon on "Prodigal Father and Prodigal Son." John recently moved, even to the point of tears.

Thus the little Friends' meeting at Mooresville did what it could to help a boy who had already strayed far from the path of rectitude. Under the circumstances it is hoped that the newspapers will not take further occasion to spread the story that John Dillinger, the criminal, is the product of a Quaker family or of Quaker faith. People of right sensibilities will unite in wishing that he had come at an earlier age under the benign influence of Christianity.

OLD HAVERFORD

To the Editor of the Haverford News:

I have been looking over a collection of five or six hundred pamphlets dating from about a hundred years ago to a little less. They were collected and bound for the owner, Benjamin H. Warder (1796-1857), who happens to have been a great uncle of mine. He was also one of the founders of Haverford School (now College) and for the first fifteen years its treasurer.

The tracts as a whole give an idea of the very wide range of subjects which interested the men who started our College. They represent many philanthropic, educational and religious interests. Some of the pamphlets deal directly with Haverford. One is an address, probably by Daniel B. Smith, which is later endorsed by the Corporation, in which the course of study proposed for the school is explained in terms of educational theory. Another of the historians of the College cites this paper.

There are also early annual reports of the managers, giving, of course, the list of faculty and students for each year, and the very modest financial figures. In one of

MUSIC

Needless to say, the crowning point of this season of music comes at the end of this week on Friday and Saturday, when the Bach Festival takes place at Bethlehem. The Bach choir consists of 275 voices and will be assisted by soloists, orchestra, organ, and the Moravian Trombone Choir, with Bruce Carey conducting. On Friday afternoon and evening the "Christmas Oratorio" will be sung, and on Saturday, the entire B Minor Mass. Though there have been several opportunities to hear these works throughout this year, the Bach Festival at Bethlehem has always stood during the last quarter century, for the ultimate expression of the music of Bach, and has been a symbol of perhaps the finest choral singing, not only here but throughout the country.

Dr. Rollo Matfield will give the sixth of his annual recitals of organ compositions of Bach on Tuesday evening, at 8.15, in the Church of the New Jerusalem, 22nd and Chestnut sts. The program is excellent, concluding with the Choral Prelude, "Sleepers Wake" and the Passacaglia. The Junger Maennerchor, an organization of 90 male voices noted for their a-cappella singing, will give a concert at the Penn State Gymnasium on Friday evening at 8.15. Their "Piece de Resistance" will be a symphonic poem or motet for male voices, soprano, and orchestra, entitled "Klingendes Jahr," by the German composer, Otto Siegel. It is the most ambitious undertaking the Junger Maennerchor has ever attempted. The piece is in five movements and depicts the seasons of the year. It will be heard for the first time in this country.

For those music-lovers who wish satisfactorily to fill up this intermezzo between the regular symphony concerts and the summer season, the City Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Thaddeus Rich, is highly to be recommended. The Symphony plays this Wednesday, the Leonore Overture No. 3, and Symphony No. 4, by Beethoven, and compositions by Liszt and DiCiccio. . . . and on Saturday, "Mummer's Delight's Dream" by Mendelssohn; Bizet's Carmen Suite No. 1; Saint-Saens "Danse Macabre" and Wagner's Overture to "Die Meistersinger."

And as a final note, I just wish to mention the two performances of "Fidelio" by the Opera Company, being given at the Academy on Friday and Saturday evenings.

there is a special explanation of the reasons why French is not added to the curriculum. Another mentions "a new 'put-out' siding?" on Railway."

The faculty list for one year shows a kind of nepotism that makes modern charges of graft in academic appointments seem very tame. As a present member of the family has pointed out to me five of the seven "officers of instruction," in 1834 include, respectively, the superintendent, his two sons, a son-in-law and a cousin.

One of the most interesting pamphlets to me in Catalogue of the Library in 1836. The total number of items listed, including some in several volumes, amount to about 750. There is, of course, no fiction, no modern dramas, and practically no English literature or poetry. There is almost no German except one grammar. The French books are mainly a large group on mathematics, astronomy, and mechanics. The Greek and Roman classics are well represented with a full collection of texts or "Opera Omnia." The Quaker books are not so numerous as might have been expected, less than 5 per cent. of the whole, and there is a considerable range of volumes on history, biography, and travel. Within the limits set for instruction and research, the books were mostly well selected, and modern rather than a miscellaneous collection of rummage gifts. It would be interesting to know how many of the books were used by the former members of the library. The ten big folios listed are mostly there today, for I have seen them. A famous list is extant of the books which John Harvard gave to what has since been found in the library of the University which bears his name. In a small way this old Haverford Library Catalogue serves the same purpose for our Alma Mater.

Henry J. Cadbury.

PLAN FOR CAPS AND GOWNS

During the past week all members of the Class of 1934 were measured for the caps and gowns which they will wear during the Commencement Day ceremonies. ## Playlet Features Final Faculty-Student Party

Before a delighted crowd of students, faculty and friends of the College, the touching tragedy of Pyramus and Thisbe was enacted by an accomplished Elizabethan troupe yesterday afternoon. The playlet, from Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," was performed in the Orchard as part of the final Faculty-Student party of the season.

As an added attraction, a mixed quartet, made up of Mrs. J. Leslie Holton, Miss Helen Palmer, Mrs. Dorothy Comfort, Professor Holton and W. S. Stoddard, '35, sang several madrigals and ballads of the Elizabethan period. At the conclusion of the playlet, the poster announcing the party was auctioned off for two dollars to Professor Edward D. Snyder by Dean H. Tattall Brown, Jr. The poster, picturing Professors Arnold Post and Dean P. in their Elizabethan costumes, was drawn by B. B. Hyde, '37.

Refreshments concluded the party proper, after which the cast of the playlet and those who assisted were invited to stay for supper as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Holton. Following supper, this group danced Elizabethan folk dances until dark.

Barrett and Reid Speak To Alumni

Retiring Professors Tell Of Long Relations With Haverford Students

Forty-two alumni from the classes of 1900 to 1907 inclusive attended a luncheon at the Haverford Club on Friday, April 20. Alexander C. Wood, Jr., '02, President of the Alumni Association, presented as guest speakers Professors Don C. Barrett and Leigh W. Reid.

Both professors, who are retiring this year, spoke feelingly of their association with the members of the classes present. Dr. Barrett emphasized the pleasure he had had in being associated with both President Sharpless and Professor Comfort and mentioned the different methods by which they have met both sought and attained the same objectives. Dr. Reid described the pleasant contacts he had made during the thirty-four years he has been teaching Freshman Mathematics.

Appeal Made for Alumni News

Mr. Wood closed the meeting with an appeal in behalf of the News for more information from the Alumni. Another luncheon to be attended by members of the classes prior to 1900 will be held at the Haverford Club on Friday, May 11, when Dr. Arthur Hopkins, president of the Club, will be toastmaster and will introduce President W. W. Comfort. Dr. Comfort's theme will be the three new members of the faculty: Professors Petter, Oakley, and Trueblood.

Randall to Speak to '29-'33

The concluding luncheon of this series in contemplation of 1934's Alumni Day will comprise the members of the classes 1929 to 1933 inclusive. It will be held Friday, May 18, with Dean Archibald Macintosh presiding, and Coach Roy E. Randall as the principal speaker.

As a result of many favorable comments the continuation of these luncheons at the Haverford Club during 1934-35 is being seriously considered.

TRACKMEN RECORD FIRST WIN AGAINST ST. JOSEPH

Score Easy 89-37 Triumph Over Local Foe as Captain Bancroft and Holzer Star; Siebert is Double Winner

NASH IN TIE FOR SCORING HONORS

Performing on the local track for the first time in three weeks, the Haverford College cindermen scored their initial triumph of the season Saturday when St. Joseph's College...

In scoring all but three of the first places, Haddleton's squad showed much improvement over their other appearance on Walton Field when they bowed to Dickinson...

Siebert became the only double winner of the afternoon when he romped home ahead of the field in both the hurdling features. His triumph in the 110-meter affair over the high obstacles pried the lid off the afternoon's program...

Locals Invincible in Dashes Giving up three of the 27 points in the sprint events, the local speed merchants scored clean sweeps in the century and furlong, and allowed St.

Shares Scoring Honors

CHARLES M. BANCROFT, '34

Leader of the Haverford cindermen, who helped his team victory over St. Joseph's with 11 points, sharing scoring honors with Nash, of the visitors, and Holzer.

Joseph's only a second in the 400-meter dash. Holzer was still accelerating when he crossed the tape at the head of a regiment of scarlet jerseys as the local entries finished in one, two, three, four order. Chap Brown, able to attain maximum velocity in the longer 200-meter test, had little trouble in defeating Brother Paul and Captain Bancroft, and won handily in 22.1 seconds.

The 400-meter dash, about 2 yards shorter than the regulation quarter-mile, provided much more of a thrill for the spectators. Running the same kind of race that has won for him all year, Duffield again staved off a valiant enemy threat on the home stretch to add 5 more points to the Main Liners' rapidly rising total. Opening up a 5-yard gap early in the race, the local star hung onto it until the final turn when Gooley began to creep up. It looked like he was going to take the race, but Duffield added a little more gas to turn him back in the last 20 yards and visitor chased over the line 2 yards in the rear.

The distance division was more hotly contested, due mainly to the efforts of the visiting milers who covered the shorter 1500-meter in speedy fashion to vanquish the only Haverford entry, Roger Scattergood, who

Baseball, Tennis Teams Play Here Junior Day

Two traditional rivals will do battle with Scarlet and Black athletic teams for the entertainment of Friday's large Junior Day crowd.

On '22 Field Coach Randall's nine will tangle with Swarthmore for the only time this year. The Main Liners, who have been pounding the ball at a lively clip in their last few games, will be seeking their first victory over the Garnet since 1929.

On the tennis courts John Hopkins, an ancient foe in many fields of athletic endeavor, will provide the opposition for Captain Flaccus and his crew.

had to be content with third place. Cornely, the winner, was timed in 4:30.8. Positions were reversed in the 3000-meter run and the locals took both the top notch positions with Tatem and Bodine. Noone gathered in the remaining point for St. Joseph's.

Mechling Fails to Break Record

Quite the feature of the afternoon was Mechling's attempt on the half-mile record of 2:06.6 set by Bob Edgall in 1930. After falling last week by the slim margin of three-fifths of a second, the Moorestown star misjudged his speed in the early stages of the second lap Saturday and fell back to 2:03.8. Although failing in the prime objective, Mechling had no trouble in annexing the race over the slightly shorter metrical distance in 2:03, and the final outcome was never in doubt after the first lap.

In the field events the home team triumphed over the Nash, nearly beat the local star, but landed in second place, one inch behind Perry.

Holz again won his specialty, the javelin throw, nosing out the versatile Holzer by a foot and a half with a toss of 160 feet 4 inches. Captain Bancroft won by a comfortable margin the 100-yard dash, his throw being 10 feet 6 inches, 10 feet farther out than the next best effort. In the other two field tests, the shot put and the pole vault, the home team could get no pile up the lead second. Holzer's mediocre heave of 35 feet 10 inches was good enough to earn him a second to Riley in the former event, and Johnny Rhoads cleared 10 1/2 feet in the pole vault to finish a quadruple tie for first place.

The summaries: 100-meter Dash—First, Holzer, Haverford; second, Bancroft, Haverford; third, C. Brown, Haverford; Time 1:1.1 seconds. 200-meter Dash—First, C. Brown; second, Bancroft; third, P. Netmen Drop Pair To Extend Streak

Margin in Each Match One Point; Flaccus Regains Winning Form

Two defeats by the closest of margins featured last week's additions to the varsity tennis team's five-game losing streak. Lafayette eked out a close 5-4 win at Easton on Wednesday and Saturday Bucknell added a 4-3 decision at Lewisburg.

Practically the only redeeming feature of the week's work was Lou Flaccus' return to winning ways. Although the Bucknell match went to three sets, the very fact that he triumphed was an improvement over the showings at Williams and Wesleyan. Lathrop, Leopard's first man, provided little opposition, succumbing 6-1, 6-2. Bucknell's freshman almost took measure of the Quaker ace, but Lou's steadiness prevailed in the end. The scores were 4-6, 6-4, 6-3. Weightman was the only other singles man to win both matches, although Flaccus and Memhard won twice at doubles.

The Sport Jester

By WALTON FIELD, '88

The fur-lined laurels for coming-back are hereby awarded to the track team. The locals cracked up on the take-off, and lost a close one to Dickinson. Amherst added to the general misery, but the first signs of rejuvenation glimmered in the Hopkins setto, the Docs taking as much medicine as they dished out Saturday the Saints martyred themselves to the cause, and the comeback in a fair way to the score where. Rhines Poorman and Holzer have been particularly bright spots in the attack. Poorman's 5:13-4 in the high jump is flirring dangerously near the 35-year-old college mark set by E. B. Conklin back in the days when trackmen had to tuck the tips of their mustaches in their shirts before going into action. Holzer's running in the century was termed "lumbering" by one Philly paper. The time, incidentally, was 10.1.

The class of '37 is just about in seventh heaven (drink down), for they boast, among other things, the only undefeated team in the college. Now that the XI is on the toboggan, the boys are in a fair way to the tennis squad in the midst of a disastrous season, the work of the Rhine trackmen stands out like a far coat in a nudist colony. The wins over intercol rivals were doubtly "lumbering" by one Penn Charter and Episcopal doubled the score on the Quaker frosh.

In past seasons the Haverford tossers have been likened to the Hitless Wonders—well, they were hitless, anyway. The felding was fair to middling, the hitting passable, but the bats of the local boys encountered nothing but air. Suddenly, under the master touch of Coach Randall, they were turned into veritable batters of the plate. They defied tradition by punching out sixteen solid hits against Lehigh for nine tallies, three of them on home runs. But alas and alack, Lehigh scored twenty-two times on fourteen safeties, twelve walks, and six errors.

About all the tennis team has to show for last week's work are the guarantees. It begins to look as though for the first time in the Branchal regime the team won't win more than half their matches. Three of the engagements have been lost by one point. Maybe, like Flaccus' other team, they are saving up for Swarthmore.

The Black Quakes' third varsity victory for 1933-34 over the Garnet Quakes has already been hung up, and there are three to go. In each of these the Main Liners loom as underdogs—but in the words of the peerless leader of men, that glances last year's administrator, H. Tattal Brown, "you never can tell."

Rhine Cindermen Beat Episcopal Academy By Close Score, 59 To 58

Holzer is Local Ace With Four Firsts; Cauffman Stars for Episcopal

Scoring 21 out of his team's total of 59 points Chuck Holzer was again the Freshman high scorer when the Rhine track team defeated Episcopal Academy on Wednesday by the close score of 59-58. The lone point that was necessary for victory was chalked up by Robert Leibold when he took third place in the last event, the half-mile run.

Holzer had a rival high scorer in Cauffman, of Episcopal, who tallied only one less marker than his Scarlet and Black opponent. Cauffman accounted for eight victories in the thirteen events, Holzer's third place in the 220-yard dash giving him the extra point.

The meet was a close one from the start and remained knotted until the final event. Before the running of the half-mile run, Episcopal Academy had a three-point lead, but Pete Rodman's victory in this event combined with Leibold's third place gave the Main Liners their final edge.

- The summary: 100-yard Dash—Holzer, Haverford; second, Krenner, third, Cauffman, Episcopal; Time—10.3 seconds. 200-yard Dash—First, Huns, Haverford; second, Ball, Episcopal; third, Holzer, Haverford; Time—21.8 seconds. 300-yard Dash—First, Carrv, Haverford; second, Ball, Episcopal; third, Rodman, Epia. 500-yard Dash—First, Carrv, Haverford; second, Ball, Episcopal; third, Rodman, Epia. 800-yard Run—First, Hughes, Haverford; second, Huns, Episcopal; third, Leibold, Haverford; Time—3:10.1. 1500-meter Run—First, Schanbacher, Episcopal; second, Lester, Salem, all of Episcopal; Time—4:07. 3000-meter Run—First, Hardles—First, Cauffman, second, Krenner, third, McCawley, all of Episcopal; Time—10.8 seconds. 500-yard High Hurdles—First Cauffman; second, Krenner, third, Lester, all of Episcopal; Time—7:8 seconds. LEHIGH ROMPS TO WIN OVER LOCAL NINE, 22-9

Home Runs by Tiernan, Harjes, and Wilson Fail to Stem Tide as Wildness of Home Moundsmen Prove Costly

HARJES HAS PERFECT DAY AT BAT

Although outbats by the Scarlet and Black, four Lehigh big innings proved disastrous as the Haverford nine succumbed, 22-9, in a Wednesday tilt on the home diamond.

The greatest exhibition of power-hose slugging by the locals in recent years was fruitless as the Bethlehemites, aided by 12 bases on balls and six errors, ran wild. Harjes had a perfect day at bat, with four hits in as many official chances.

Budars Connects in Pinch In the opening frame the merrigo-round got under way. Koman singled, Burke was hit by a pitch, and Liggett's rap filled the bases.

Harjes opened the Haverford third with a safety and Purvis followed suit. Fraser produced the third consecutive hit of the session to tally Harjes and advance Purvis to the mid-point.

Tiernan's second round-tripper of the campaign in the fourth made the score 4-3 and local hopes were high, as Nicholson had settled down to blank the Brown and White with one hit after the first inning.

Harjes Hits For Circuit A walk to Wilson, hits by Richie and Tiernan and a prodigious four-ply blast by Harjes to deep center brought the Randallmen back in the ball game in the fifth with four counters.

The big parade started in earnest in Lehigh's seventh turn, a close slugging duel being turned into a rout. Three hits and five walks together with some fancy base-running counted for seven runs and brought the score to 15-7.

up one in their half as Wilson slammed another four-bagger.

Singer Erratic On Mound

Coming from the ridiculous to the sublime, Singer, who had replaced Nicholson midway in the seventh, fanned the side in the eighth inning.

To make things emphatic, the Brown hose cavorted around the base paths to the tune of seven more markers on five singles, three passes, and a miscue.

Two Entries Likely To Represent Haverford In M. A. S. C. A. Meet

Squad Will Trek to Lancaster For Meet With F. & M. Wednesday Featured by the return of Alfred College, which has not competed since 1930.

The Scarlet and Black squad, after engaging Franklin and Marshall in a dual meet at Lancaster on Wednesday, will send a delegation of probably two athletes to the title games.

Either of these runners has an excellent chance to figure in the point scoring. Both are consistent winners in dual meets, and Mechleng has already equalled the time set by Welsh of Muhlenberg for the 880-yard event in 1933.

Alfred Has Strong Squad

Alfred, runner-up in the 1929 meet, scored ten points with three entries in 1930 before dropping out of title competition for a four-year interval.

If Alfred does succeed in giving Rutgers a battle for the championship, Lafayette and Lehigh will be left to fight it out for third honors.

Hopkins and Swarthmore should stand out among the remaining teams with 10 to 15 points each. The Jays have two excellent runners in King and Holtzman, and also considerable strength in the broad jump.

No records are likely to fall in this year's meet, as most of the marks were set while N. Y. U. and then Manhattan dominated the M. A. S. C. A.

Although Haverford does not have a championship team, she has been honored by the re-election of her dean, H. Tatum Brown, Jr., to the presidency of the M. A. S. C. A.

Engineers Attend Meeting Held On Campus Saturday

President Comfort Gives Welcoming Address; Banquet Held VISIT LOCAL PLANTS

A meeting of the Middle Atlantic States Section of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education was held Saturday on the grounds of the College. In the morning, inspection trips were arranged for the members to Leeds and Northrup Company and the Autocar Company. A map of the College was also provided for those who wished to walk about the campus. Luncheon was served in Founders at 1 o'clock.

At 2 o'clock in the Union President W. W. Comfort welcomed the group to Haverford. At this time he spoke of Haverford as a place where the young man is given an education that gives him resources for a happier, a better, and a more useful life as a citizen. After outlining the plan for majoring and the attempt to give more attention to the individual student, he said that these and the other practices of the Liberal Arts College were not new but merely an attempt to keep up with post-war advances in education.

Haverford, however, he explained, is actually carrying out the unusual plan of interviewing all new students. He called attention to the importance an engineer places on the quality of his raw product and said that the capacity of students when they entered college determined, in a large part, their success afterwards.

Business Meeting Held

The Business and Technical Meeting of the group was then taken up. An address: "The Economic Sequence in the Civil Engineering Curriculum" was given by J. K. Finch, Renwick Professor of Civil Engineering at Columbia University. An address: "Engineers and Citizenship" was given by R. V. Wright, Managing Editor of "The Railway Age."
