FACULTY OF RIVERSFORD COLLEGE

Regular Meeting
President White presiding

September 17, 1951
9:00 a.m.

Minute 1. The President welcomed the new members of the Faculty.

Minute 2. Dean Cadbury reported on course changes, Freshman counselling and related matters.

Minute 3. Dean Cadbury raised the question of compulsory reporting of absences to the Dean's office. The Faculty agreed that the reporting of cuts should be abandoned except immediately before and after a holiday, in the event of two successive absences by a student, or for students on full or cut probation. This shall not affect the right of an individual instructor to require attendance and penalize absence.

Minute 4. Cletus Oakley announced that Campus Day has been tentatively scheduled for Tuesday, October 30th.

Committee Reports

Minute 5. Frank Parker reported briefly on the activities of the Academic Standing Committee.

11:05 a.m.

Minute 1. The minutes of the meetings of June 6, 1951 and September 17, 1951 were read and approved with minor alterations.

Minute 2. The Faculty agreed that in the event of excessive absence, as defined in Minute 3, September 17, 1951, the Dean's office will be notified of such absence by the instructor concerned as expeditiously as possible, preferably by telephone. The Dean agreed to send individual instructors the names of those men on full or cut probation.

Committee Reports

Minute 3. Ira Reid, Chairman of the Committee on Curriculum and Program, reported that the committee is currently exploring the problems of limited electives, foreign language and make-up examinations.

Minute 4. Theodore Hetzel, for the committee on Non-Academic instruction, asked that current rules be altered to permit a Senior, solely on the recommendation of the Dean, to be allowed concurrently to take a physical education and a non-academic course. The Faculty accepted this recommendation.

Minute 5. Douglas Steere reported that the special committee on Rhodes Scholars had recommended two men for scholarships, Richard Norris and Peter Bean.

Announcements

Minute 6. Gilbert White reported on the disposal of income from the bequest of William Phillips. The Managers have agreed to consider recommendations for purchase of rare books from the Library Committee and the Librarian, have agreed to charge to the Philips' Bequest the cost of those periodicals which are learned and important, and have approved an additional expenditure for the purchase of new periodicals or of back numbers of old or new periodicals. In addition, Philips' funds are being utilized to bring leading statesmen, and scientists to the campus to associate with the college community.

Minute 7. Edward Snyder, Faculty representative to Board of Managers, reported on the last meeting of the Board.

Regular Meeting	 November 29, 1951
Vice-President MacIntosh presiding	 4:05 p.m.

Minute 1. The Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Committee Reports

Minute 2. Ira Reid reported for the Curriculum and Program Committee. The Committee recommended that the Graduate Program in Social and Technical Assistance be continued for another year. The content of the program will be discussed at a later date. The Faculty approved this recommendation. In addition, Ira Reid mentioned that the Committee is currently discussing the curriculum with the Student Curriculum Committee.

Minute 3. Ralph Sargent reported for the Library Committee on the allocation of funds from the bequest of William Philips for the purchase of learned periodicals. Some members of the Faculty felt that the system adopted by the Committee was inequitable, and agreed to suggest alternate systems of allocation to the Committee for possible use in future years.

Minute 4. Vice-President MacIntosh read the report of the Committee on Non-Academic instruction (see annex 1). The Faculty expressed its concern over the 40% decline in the number of undergraduates participating in this program.

Minute 5. Ralph Sargent reported for the Faculty Representatives to the Board of Managers. He expressed concern over the possibility that, in the absence of H. M. Somers, elected alternate Faculty Representative, two representatives might not be able to attend Board meeting. The Faculty empowered Ralph Sargent and Ned Snyder to co-opt William Hildrum in the event that such a contingency arises.

Roy, I will be late for faculty meeting this afternoon. If information about the Non-Ac. program is desired, you might present these figures. Dec 17.
Regular Meeting  December 13, 1951
President White presiding  4:00 p.m.

Minute 1. The minutes of the last meeting were approved as read.

Committee Reports

Minute 2. Dean Cadbury reported for the Academic Council. The Council has refused to grant Haverford degrees to students who left Haverford College after three years to attend medical schools. It was the sense of the Council and of the Faculty that the first year of medical instruction was in no way equivalent to the senior year at Haverford and that degrees should not be granted on this basis.

New Business

Minute 3. Several members of the Faculty expressed a concern for a reliable and rational system of bells on campus. The highly neurotic activity of Founder's Bell was deplored, and it was felt that a buzzer system such as now exists in Sharpless Hall could be, with profit, installed throughout the classroom buildings. Professor Oakley suggested that an alarm clock is admirably suited to arousing a class from thought.

Minute 1. The minutes of the last meeting were approved as read.

Committee Reports

Minute 2. Ira Reid reported for the Curriculum and College Program Committee. He called the attention of the Faculty to a meeting called for January 25, 1952, at which there will be a discussion and evaluation of the Graduate Curriculum in Social and Technical Assistance. In addition, the committee is currently investigating three areas: make-up examinations, the limited electives in natural science and mathematics, and project courses.

Minute 3. Ralph Sargent reported for the Faculty Representatives to the Board of Managers on the last meeting of the Board. The problem of conditions under which faculty may build houses on campus arose at this meeting, and, although no decision on the matter was reached at that time, it is anticipated that the Managers will formulate a policy on the matter in the near future.

Old Business

Minute 4. Dean Cadbury asked the Faculty to reconsider its action on March 22, 1951 (Minute 4), allowing students to graduate with 39 or 38 courses if they take 4 or 6 approved summer courses. By the terms of the Minute, this action was to come up for reconsideration this year. After much discussion in which both the needs of students faced with military service and the importance of maintaining college standards were emphasized, the Faculty referred the problem to the Academic Council with a request that the Council report its recommendations on the subject to the next meeting of the Faculty.

Minute 5. In view of the fact that Richard Courant, a distinguished mathematician, has agreed to visit Haverford and offer a course next semester, the Faculty agreed that a course in his specialty be admitted to the college curriculum subject only to the approval of the Curriculum and College Program Committee.

Minute 1. The minutes of the last meeting were approved with slight amendment.

Committee Reports

Minute 2. Ira Reid reported for the Curriculum and College Program Committee, and called several matters to the attention of the Faculty. First, on behalf of Dean Cadbury, Ira Reid requested the Faculty to change the catalog description of hyphenated, full year courses to "comma" courses when students are permitted to drop such courses after one semester and yet receive credit for the one term's work. Second, the Committee asked that the catalog statement on limited electives in the Humanities be altered. The suggested rephrasing was unacceptable to several members of the Humanities faculty, so action on this matter was postponed until the next meeting of the Faculty in order that these objections could be taken into consideration by the Committee and a satisfactory reformulation devised. Third, the Committee recommended the elimination of the make-up examination as a matter of right for students who receive a semester grade of 50-59. (See Annex 1). The Faculty postponed action on this matter until the next meeting.

New Business

Minute 3. The Faculty expressed its sorrow over the death of Morris Leeds, and asked the Secretary to express its condolences to Mrs. Leeds. (See Annex 2.)

Adjourned 12:15

John P. Roche,
Secretary
A student who receives a grade of 50-59 as his semester mark in any course is allowed to take a special examination to make up this work.

A student who receives a semester grade of less than 60 must repeat the course if it is required for graduation. If it is not required, he may repeat it or substitute another. The grade received for a repeated course is recorded and averaged in the year it is taken. No course may be repeated more than once; failure to pass a repeated required course will prevent a student from obtaining his degree.

In exceptional circumstances, because of illness or some other unavoidable emergency, a student who receives a semester grade of less than 60 may petition the dean for a special examination. The grade in the special examination will replace the grade originally earned in the mid-year or final examination of the course; the new grade will be entered on the student's transcript and the semester average will be revised accordingly.

The special examinations for courses failed in the first semester will be given immediately after the spring vacation of the year in which the failure occurred. The special examinations for courses failed in the first semester will be given in the following September. Unless the student is ill or otherwise incapable of taking the examinations at the scheduled time, there will be no other opportunity of making up the work.

The Senior who receives a course grade of 50-59 in June is permitted to take the special examination during Commencement Week. The Senior who receives a semester grade of less than 60 in a course taken during the second semester of his final year, and whose petition for a special examination has been granted by the Dean, will be permitted to take that examination prior to or during Commencement Week. This arrangement does not, however, apply to the comprehensive examination. (See page 35.) These examinations are known as make-up examinations. They are scheduled only upon written request by the student.

Special examinations are scheduled only upon written request by the student, permission by the Dean, and the payment of a fee of $5.00 for each examination. In the case of special examinations to be taken after spring vacation, which apply to courses failed at mid-year, the request and the fee must be received at least one week before the beginning of spring vacation. In the case of make-up special examinations to be taken in September, which apply to courses failed in the second semester, the written request and the fee must be filed by August 1.

When the applications are received late, it may not be possible to arrange for an examination; in any case, late applicants are subject to an additional fee of $5.00. A student who receives a grade below 50 in any course is not permitted to take a make-up examination in that course.

A student with a grade below 50 as his semester grade, or with 50-59 as his semester grade in any course after the special examination privilege has lapsed, or after taking a make-up examination, must repeat the course if it is a required course (repeated courses are recorded and averaged in the year of repetition), or may substitute some other course if the failure is an elective course. No course may be repeated more than once; failure to pass a repeated required course will consequently prevent a student from obtaining his degree.
February 26, 1952

Mrs. Morris A. Leeds
1025 Westview Street

Dear Mrs. Leeds:

At its meeting on February 21st, the Faculty of Haverford College minute its deep regret over the passing of your husband and our friend, Morris Leeds, and asked me to express to you our sympathy in your bereavement.

Morris Leeds became a member of the Board of Managers of Haverford College before any of the now active members of the Faculty were appointed, and he was Chairman of the Board throughout the years when most of the present Faculty came to Haverford. It was in large part the influence of Morris Leeds that fostered and preserved the warm feeling of kinship between the Board and the Faculty which we at Haverford so highly cherish. His warmth and friendliness, his willingness to devote time and energy to College concerns, and the unflagging financial support that he gave to Haverford, have all contributed to Morris Leeds' unique position in the Haverford tradition.

Older members of the Faculty can speak to Morris Leeds' generosity with particular emphasis, for his concern and influence were vital in the establishment of an equitable system of old-age pensions. In matters of this sort, his actions always moved in the direction of generosity. He was a rare combination of the idealist with vision and the business man with acumen, and his activities along both lines of endeavor have been of great benefit to the Haverford College community.

We of the Faculty wish to extend to you and your family our deepest regrets over your personal loss, and we would like to convey to you, in this inadequate form, some indication of our admiration and respect for a man whom we feel has, in his life and works, symbolized the best in the Haverford tradition.

Sincerely yours,

John F. Roche
Secretary to the Faculty
1. The Committee recommends the approval of the curriculum in Music as reconstructed and submitted by that Department.

2. The Committee recommends the approval of the curriculum in Psychology as reconstructed and submitted by that Department.

3. The Committee recommends approval of the following distribution of courses for fulfilling the Natural Sciences and Mathematics Limited Electives requirements:

   3. Natural Sciences and Mathematics: The requirement may be met by passing four semester courses, two each from two of the following three groups:
      (a) Biological Science 12, or 14.
      (b) Physical Science 12, 13, 14; Chemistry 12, 13, 14; Physics 13-14.
      (c) Astronomy 11, 12; Geology 101a, 101b; Mathematics 11-12; Psychology 33-34.

   * Geology is offered at Bryn Mawr College. In order for a student to take a course at Bryn Mawr, he must meet the requirements as stated on page 127 of this catalog.

4. The Committee recommends that a statement be made in our catalog to the effect that permission to take courses at Bryn Mawr, Swarthmore and the University of Pennsylvania must be granted by the Dean. In general, permission will not be granted to a student whose average for the preceding semester has been less than 80.

5. The Committee recommends approval of the following regulations governing conditions under which special examinations will be given in the College.

IdaAR
March 17, 1952
The proposed change in the regulations regarding make-up examinations will involve decision on the part of the Dean as to whether or not a particular student shall be granted permission to take the make-up examination. The following considerations should provide a satisfactory guide.

1. A student who is prevented by causes beyond his control, such as illness or domestic affliction, from taking a final examination will be automatically granted permission by the Dean to take the make-up.

2. A student who is prevented by such causes as illness or domestic affliction from doing justice to himself on a final examination, to the extent that he fails the course, will be granted permission by the Dean to take a make-up examination if the instructor in the course agrees, provided that the student's work up to the final examination has been passing, or nearly so.

3. In the rare case where a student has done work of high grade up to the final examination, but does so poorly on the final examination that he fails the course, permission to take the make-up examination may be granted by the Dean. This is the kind of situation which places the greatest burden on the discretion of the Dean; permission to take the make-up should be granted in a case of this sort only if the instructor is clearly convinced, and is able to convince the Dean, that the failure does not represent a fair picture of the student's effort or accomplishment in the course.

WILLIAM B. OADBURY, JR.
Dean

C.C. Mr. Roche - 3/20/52
Minute 9. The Council was reminded that at the last Faculty meeting, the Faculty had instructed the Council to prepare a recommendation regarding acceleration. After considerable discussion, the Council decided to recommend to the Faculty that "a student who intends to accelerate may graduate with 39 course credits, if he has taken 4 courses in one summer school session, or with 38 course credits, if he has taken 4 courses in each of two summer school sessions, provided that before attending the first summer school session he must have indicated to the Dean his intention to accelerate and received the approval of the Dean, and prior to the second such summer school session he must have received the approval of the Academic Council, as well as the Dean."

"It is understood that approval by the Dean or Academic Council, as the case may be, is by no means automatic. The Council further recommends that this ruling should be considered temporary only, and that it should be reviewed at the Faculty meeting in December, 1952."
Minute 1. The minutes of the last meeting were approved as read.

Committee Reports

Minute 2. Ira Reid reported for the College Curriculum and Program Committee which recommends that Psychology 33-34 replace Psychology 21-22 as a limited elective (Class A) in science. This suggestion was approved by the Faculty.

Minute 3. Archibald MacIntosh reported for the Committee on Fellowships and prizes and recommended to the Faculty that John Woll be named first Cope Fellow and Burton Pike second Cope Fellow. The Faculty approved this recommendation.

Minute 4. Dean Cadbury reported that diplomatic negotiations have been undertaken with the Bryn Mawr administrative authorities to terminate certain tensions that have existed in the field of honors work. In the event that a student from one of the colleges undertakes a major at the other, the respective faculties retain the final say on the award of honors to their own products: i.e. the departments in which the work is done may make certain recommendations on honors, but any possible award is at the full discretion of the faculty of the student's home college.
